Insists China Recognize Validity of Treaty
Signed in 1915

TROOPS STILL MOVING

Answer to Briand Note to Restate Attitude Expressed by Tokio

Tokio—(AP)—While its troops moved farther into Manchuria and encountered Chinese machine guns in one instance, the Japanese government tonight began drafting a note to the league of nations insisting that China recognize the validity of treaties under which Japan operates in the Chinese territory.

The Japanese note will be in reply to that of Aristide Briand, acting president of the league council, setting forth his views regarding the five fundamental principles to which the Tokio government previously had asked China to subscribe as a prerequisite to the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Manchurian occupied area.

Tokio will contend that one essential point must be China's recognition of the 1915 treaty under which Japan was given certain rights in Chinese territory.

China contends that this treaty, originating out of the "Twenty-one demands," was signed by the Chinese under duress and therefore illegal. Japan maintains the treaty was legitimate and binding, and as nearly perfect as numerous others now in effect.

It was understood here Briand had suggested Japan should agree to the Chinese proposal to refer existing Sino-Japanese treaties to the Hague for adjudication. This Tokio considers improper and unfair.

Restate Jap View
The reply to the Briand note will be in the nature of restatement of Japan's attitude emphasizing that a fundamental solution of Sino-Japanese difficulties hinges upon Chinese recognition of the 1915 pact.

The note also will say that unless China recognizes and lives up to the terms of that treaty, normal relations between the two nations cannot be enjoyed.

Regarding the league council's insistence upon withdrawal of Japanese troops from the occupied zones in Manchuria, the Tokio government holds that unconditional withdrawal would mean a return to the previous unsatisfactory and unsafe status quo and an opening of the way for the return of the "irresponsible authority" of Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria under the Chinese regime.

Japan believes Chang's return would mean the presence of "troublesome troops"—an intolerable prospect from Tokio's point of view.

The Japanese government is keeping the league informed of all troop movements in Manchuria, particularly outside the Japanese treaty zone of the South Manchurian railway.

Detachment of Japanese troops advancing to the Nenai river bridge south of Tsitsihar, strategic city in northwestern Manchuria, was reported to have encountered machine gun fire from an independent Chinese army commanded by General Ma Chuan-San.

Control Of House Is Won By Democrats

Libel Suit Judge

Federal Judge John M. Killits, above, of Toledo, O., has been hearing Nan Britton's $50,000 libel suit against a Marion, O., hotel operator. Nan Britton is author of "The President's Daughter," the "answer" of which she said is defaming to her.

Order Delay In Koehring Death Probe

Mauston—(AP)—Postponement for another week of the inquest into the mysterious death of Philip A. Koehring, 55, millionaire Milwaukee manufacturer, was ordered today by District Attorney Edward T. Vinopal to permit further investigation by private operatives and Juneau-co authorities.

The prosecutor's decision was announced after a telephone conversation yesterday with Milwaukee attorneys of the Koehring company in which Mr. Vinopal said he learned the company's agent had obtained information indicating Koehring was slain.

"I was advised a man would be here today and that some investigation had been made outside of Juneau-co which will help in the inquiry," Vinopal said.

Koehring, president of a $10,000,000 industrial concern and twice vice president of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, was found dead in his automobile near here last Saturday. There was a bullet wound in his head and circumstances indicating he might have been slain or committed suicide.

Members of the manufacturer's family and his business associates insist that the death was not suicide. They advanced the theory that some disgruntled person, presumably a discharged employee, overlooked Koehring's automobile on the highway and shot him with a hunting rifle to carry out his plan.

Several witnesses who claimed to have seen two automobiles speeding along the highway about nine miles east of here, near an expensive home believed to have been Koehring's, prompted authorities to entertain the theory he might have been slain. No definite motive for either murder or suicide has been found, the coroner has steadfastly held it a case of suicide.

14 NABBED IN FEDERAL RAIDS IN 2 COUNTIES

Madison—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents arrested 14 persons late yesterday in raids in Lafayette and Grant counties.

The raids were conducted by officers of the Madison bureau under Ray J. Nye, deputy administrator. Ten gallons of alcohol constituted the biggest cache of liquor found.

Those arrested are Clarence J. Ginner, Brownstown; Frank Fleming, Madison; Frank Andrew Doyle, Art Winkerson, Frank Townsend, and Thomas Morrissey, all of Shullsburg; Ed Dars and Leck Morris, both of Berrien; William McCue, Joe Hendrickson and George Finley, all of Darlington; and John Collins and Leo Doyle, both of Grant.

TROOPS CALLED OUT IN OUTBREAK IN KASHMIR

New Delhi, India—(AP)—Troops were being rushed to Kashmir today to deal with a grave situation there caused by rioting.

Sir Hari Singh, Maharajah of Kashmir, sent an urgent appeal for help from the British government when he feared he could not cope with the situation.

Reports said eight Hindus and eight Moslems had been shot and a number of houses looted and burned at Jammu when Moslem "red shirts" invaded the town.

HOLD MAJORITY OF 2 SEATS IN NEXT CONGRESS

Win Surprising Victory in G. O. P. Stronghold in Michigan District

Cleveland—(AP)—A court attack was being planned here today to enjoin the February mayoral election which was provided for by Cleveland voters yesterday when they approved a charter amendment to substitute the mayor-council plan of government for the present city manager system.

Washington—(AP)—Democratic majorities in the old-year elections continued to heap up today as Kentucky headed away from the Republican fold and late returns made a landslide of the Democratic victory in New Jersey.

Late in starting the count of ballots, the First Kentucky precincts gave Ruby Laffoon, the Democratic candidate for governor, all the best of it.

Meantime, A. Harry Moore's Democratic plurality for governor in New Jersey went booming past the 250,000 mark.

Success in three of five congressional contests in yesterday's elections gives Democrats a lead of two over the Republicans in the next house with one vacancy to be filled before congress meets in December and one to be filled in January. One seat is held by a Farmer-Laborite.

In the Eighth Michigan district, a Republican stronghold, Michael J. Hart, Democrat, defeated Foss O. Elford, Republican.

The Republicans maintained their hold on the congressional seat made vacant by the death of Speaker Longworth, electing John B. Hollister.

Democrats were successful in congressional contests in the Sixth New York and Twentieth Ohio districts. Republicans won the Second Pennsylvania.

In New Jersey, A. Harry Moore, Democrat, won a decisive victory over his Republican opponent, David Baird, Jr., for governor. Incomplete returns indicated the election of a Democratic assembly.

Governor Roosevelt of New York won a victory in the adoption of his reforestation amendment which was opposed by former Governor Smith.

Tammany piled up a huge plurality in New York city in its fight for vindication in the face of charges developed in the legislative investigation of city affairs. Twelve new supreme court justices, divided between five Republican and seven Democratic nominees in a bi-partisan agreement, were elected.

The city manager plan which has been in effect in Cleveland for eight years was apparently rescinded. Mayor Frank Murphy was re-elected in Detroit.

DRYS SEE NEW YORK VOTE AS FINAL BLOW TO SMITH PRESTIGE

Washington—(AP)—The national prohibition board of strategy said in a statement today Alfred E. Smith's elimination from the list of 1932 presidential possibilities is the outstanding fact of yesterday's elections.

"The blow to his prestige in New York state, and thus throughout the country, ends abruptly the recent move to rehabilitate him for the Democratic nomination," the statement said, adding:

"Besides this result all other results in the nation lose significance. 'No other wet New York candidate, or wet candidate from any other state, in either party will be acceptable to the dries, but there are degrees of wetness; and when the bell wether of the wets is sidetracked, as Smith is, there is every reason to count yesterday's elections a defeat for the Smith-Raskob combine.'"

Alphonse and Ralph May Travel to Prison on Same
Train

Chicago—(AP)—The Capones, Alphonse and Ralph, convicted federal income tax dodgers, may be prison bound soon, on the same train, with Leavenworth, Kas., as their destination.

Ralph was reported enroute to Chicago today from his wintering place in Miami, Fla., to surrender for imprisonment on his three-year conviction, the United States Supreme court having denied him a review of his case. Assistant United States District Attorney Jacob I. Grossman yesterday ordered Capone's attorney, George N. Murdock and the gangster's attorney to produce him tomorrow afternoon before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. If Capone fails to appear his $25,000 real estate bond will be forfeited.

Meanwhile Alphonse Capone, Ralph's younger brother, was reported to be ready to start for Leavenworth soon to begin the year prison and jail sentence imposed by Judge Wilkerson, so he will receive credit pending his appeal. He receives no credit while a prisoner in jail.

The Chicago Tribune said it had been learned from an authoritative source that Alphonse's attorney had advised him to leave for Leavenworth, pending the appeal.

SHOUSE AND FESS AIR THEIR Views On Election Results

Washington—(AP)—The result of yesterday's election was a curious one, as many anticipated. The Democratic party, which had been the majority in the House of Representatives since 1929, lost its majority.

Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said in a statement today that the election of 1932 was a "clear indication of the people's choice."

In a statement through the Democratic national committee, Shouse said:

"Nowhere did the Democrats lose any ground that had held while the Republicans lost the Eighth Michigan seat in the house of representatives. This result has been the result of the people's choice."

"The majority of the house of representatives is a definitely Democratic one now and I think we are safe in assuming that our chances of winning will be much better than in the past."

In short the picture shows the trend away from the Hoover administration, which was so marked in the election of 1928, continues.

LONE WOMAN JUROR IN FOSHAY HEARING FACES COURT ACTION

Minneapolis—(AP)—Contempt of court proceedings were instituted today against Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark, who spent time two weeks ago by missing the jury of which she was the only woman member in the trial of W. B. Foshay and six associates on mail fraud charges.

Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye signed an order requiring Mrs. Clark to appear in federal court Monday to show cause why she should not be held in contempt on grounds that she was in the employ of Foshay, had made up her mind before the trial to vote for acquittal, and had prepared herself to get on the jury.

At the trial Mrs. Clark, a small, slender woman wearing middle age, had made up her mind to vote for acquittal. She was in the employ of Foshay, had made up her mind before the trial to vote for acquittal, and had prepared herself to get on the jury.

Board of Trade Delegates Describe New Methods to President

Washington—(AP)—The perfecting of machinery capable of combatting bear raids in the grain markets was reported to President Hoover today by delegates from the Chicago Board of Trade.

President Hoover in July charged that bear raids of grain speculators were depressing prices and causing farmers to lose profits their other wise would have gained.

Stas Strawn, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who accompanied the group today, said the president appeared satisfied with the steps being taken by the business community to halt the bear raids.

"The president asked us to come down and talk over this matter with him," Strawn said. "We have no quarrel with the president about it. Mr. Hoover did not see the short selling. That comes in the necessary and has to be. When he did realize we were being raided and we assured him we had a machine that would turn over to combat this when necessary."

Strawn explained the business conduct committee kept in touch with government agencies and upon information of "irrational activities" either in long or short selling would take steps to end them.

Among those who talked with the president in addition to Strawn were Fred Uhlmann, Stibel Harris and J. B. Carey of Chicago; Edward J. Grimes of Minneapolis; and George Davis of Kansas City.

Strawn said as a result of the recent upward trend in wheat prices, "everybody in the market is optimistic about future grain prices and is glad to see the farmer benefit."

Davis, vice chairman of the grain committee on national affairs, designed to disseminate information about proper activities in the market, and to advise conduct committees in order to that in Chicago were operating effectively in both Kansas City and Minneapolis.

Davis said Mr. Hoover was well informed of the grain situation in these cities were helping in the fight against government action to regulate grain in storing either necessitate long or short selling.

MAY ATTACK CODICIL TO WILL AT OSHKOSH

Oshkosh—(AP)—Questions of the validity of a codicil of the will of William J. Hay, local operator and inventor, probably will be raised when the estate is presented at a probate court here today. The codicil was presented by a son-in-law of Mrs. Hay, who was the testatrix.

The bulk of the estate, estimated at about $100,000, is left to the widow, Mrs. Mary Thompson Hay. Three sons and a daughter share the remainder.

Hay operated a large business in Oshkosh and was a prominent citizen.

Courtroom Cleared

As yesterday, an immense crowd jammed the courtroom, hoping to get an opportunity to find a seat in the courtroom. Judge Park yesterday noon ordered that no spectators stand in the courtroom and this order has been rigidly enforced. Hundreds of persons mill about the corridors in the building. This noon these who were not enough to get seats were disappointed when Judge Park ordered the entire courtroom cleared and closed until 1 o'clock.

Scores had brought lunches and planned to remain through the noon recess rather than to take a chance on being there.

The most important state witnesses in the morning were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hilde, New London, and William Oppel, proprietor of a saloon where Koetzke and Riske were killed. The defense and where Koetzke increased a half pint of liquor.

Bury Liquor

Oppel told how Koetzke ordered the "last" pint of liquor and Oppel, Koetzke, Riske and Hilde, who was in the saloon at the time had several drinks together. Oppel said he purchased his bottles from an Appleton dealer and he testified that he always served them before he killed them. He also testified that Hilde had a drink from the same bottle as Koetzke. A half pint was downed. Hilde later corroborated this statement.

On cross examination the defense made a considerable point of the presence of the men as they stood at the bar in an effort to show that Riske had no opportunity to put anything into the liquor while Koetzke purchased. Oppel said he gave the bottle to Koetzke and that he pocketed it.

TOOK WOMAN TO PARTIES, STATE HOLDS

Testimony Indicates Defendant Had Access to

Witness Says

Evidence designed to show that Edward Riske, 48, New London, on trial in circuit court at Waupun for the murder of Louis Hoffman, also of New London, was friendly with Hoffman's wife and that he had access to a bottle of strychnine, was produced this morning. Eighteen state witnesses were on the stand at this morning's session.

When the trial started Riske was charged with the murder of both Hoffman and Henry Koetzke but yesterday Judge Byron B. Park ruled that he could be tried for only one murder at this trial and the name of Henry Koetzke was stricken from the warrant. Thus Riske is now being tried only for Hoffman's death.

The state charges Riske was in fact with Hoffman's wife and that he "drugged moonshine liquor, which he sold to the deaths of both Hoffman and Koetzke, as a barn dance near Waupun on the night of June 20. The defense, in turn, claims that Riske had neither a motive and an opportunity to commit the murders. They claim Mrs. Hoffman was responsible for the two deaths and that she had both a motive and an opportunity to commit the crime.

As yesterday, an immense crowd jammed the courtroom, hoping to get an opportunity to find a seat in the courtroom. Commission Lists Amounts Due Counties Under Gas Tax

$68,407 IS DUE TO OUTAGAMIE UNDER NEW LAW

Amounts Replace Motor Vehicle Taxes—$37,184 Goes to Appleton

Madison—(P)—The state tax commission has received from all but 15 counties figures showing the amount of money that will have to be returned to the cities, towns and villages out of the increased gasoline tax to reimburse them for losses sustained by removing motor vehicles from the general property tax rolls.

Milwaukee—(P)—with the greatest number of automobiles will get back the largest sum, $957,349.08.

The effect of the 1931 law, which boosted the gasoline tax from 2 to 4 cents, was to relieve the automobile owner of paying a valuation tax on his car and to charge him for the use of the roads in proportion to the amount of gasoline he burns up.

Instead of paying a property tax in one lump sum, he contributes to road building and upkeep every time he drives into a filling station to have his tank filled up.

The local subdivisions, however, in previous years grew upon the general property tax he paid for a part of the operating expense of their governments. With this tax abolished the law provided that they would get back its equivalent in gasoline taxes.

List Of Amounts

The amounts the state will have to pay out to the cities, towns and villages, grouped by counties include: Brown—$33,123.79 of which $29,141.78 goes to the city of Green Bay; Chippewa—$36,518.01, of which $12,910.29 goes to Chippewa Falls; Douglas—$61,728.50, of which $54,729.36 goes to Superior; Green—$29,951.50, of which $9,777.40 goes to Monroe; Kenosha—$75,691.43, of which $67,244.58 goes to Kenosha; LaCrosse—$68,789.42, of which $50,371.63 goes to LaCrosse; Lincoln—$29,336.08, of which $15,834.49 goes to Merrill; Manitowish—$55,991.31, of which $26,067.29 goes to Manitowish; Marathon—$39,248.98, of which $37,564.63 goes to Wausau; Marinette—$32,290.11, of which $16,500.67 goes to Marinette; Milwaukee—$987,949.08, of which $831,214.64 goes to Milwaukee; Monroe—$34,460.48, of which $9,526.61 goes to Sparta; Oneida—$16,769.56, of which $8,314.47 goes to Rhinelander; Outagamie—$68,407.27 of which $37,184.81 goes to Appleton; Racine—$90,077.77, of which $70,789.29 goes to Racine; Sheboygan—$82,544.83, of which $30,819.44 goes to Sheboygan; Winnebago—$38,537.55, of which $30,314.06 goes to Oshkosh; $14,979.45 goes to Neenah and $10,013.64 goes to Menasha.

Fifteen counties have not reported the figures from all their districts and the tabulations on them are not complete.

RAIL HEADS INSPECT SITE FOR STOCKYARDS

Construction work on the new Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company's stockyards will get underway in a few days, according to W. B. Basing, Appleton agent. Heads of the bridge and building department of the Ashland division, with headquarters at Ashland, were in the city during the past few days inspecting the site and laying out preliminary plans.

Crews of the Ashland division are expected to start work on the structure shortly, Mr. Basing says. The new building will be erected at an expenditure of between $3,000 and $5,000. The old stockyards north of the freight depot between N. Division and N. Superior-sts will be used for cattle shipments until the new building is finished.

The new stockyards will be erected west of Appleton Junction on the cross track of the Ashland division. The yards will have two cattle chutes so that two cattle cars can be loaded at one time, Mr. Basing stated.

Berg, director of volunteer training, National council, Boy Scouts of America.

Maude Adams Given Record Ovation On Return To Stage

Cleveland—(P)—To the accompaniment of a record-breaking ovation, Maude Adams made her bow upon the American stage again last night after an absence of 13 years.

The 59-year-old actress played the part of Portia in "The Merchant of Venice" with Otis Skinner as a co-star in the part of Shylock.

It was the first time the actress, who established herself as a prime favorite in the latter part of the nineteenth and the early part of the twentieth centuries, has appeared on any stage since 1918 when she retired to indulge a taste for tinkering with the mechanics of the theatre.

An audience of fashionably groomed and gowned society filled the theatre, greeted Miss Adams with a prolonged ovation the moment she stepped upon the stage, and called her again and again before the curtain before the last scene.

She and her co-star were called back no less than 14 times, a record in Cleveland theatres, critics said.

To many in the audience Miss Adams was remembered as Babbalanza or Peter Pan, parts to which she gave an elfin grace when she was at the height of her glamorous career. To others she was only a famous name, for a large part of the present generation of theatre goers has known her by hearsay alone, so complete has been her retirement.

The curious and skeptical and worshipful watched her bridge the gap with a typical Maude Adams performance, though the part was one far different from those for which she is best known. That she was at her best in the scenes calling for feminine grace, charm and capriciousness—at the opening of the gold, silver and lead caskets, and again in the final garden scene—was the consensus of opinion of the critics.

An innovation of the performance was a new type of stage lighting, introduced by Miss Adams herself as a result of her research since her retirement.

Instead of footlights, the actors were seen in a field of diffused light from projectors high in the balcony. At times the lighting grew dim and odd tricks on color were performed.

The premiere performance which introduces a tour of the south and middle-west and a return to New England and New York in the spring, drew nationwide attention. A few out-of-town critics attended, and a half hour review of the play was broadcast upon a radio network by Edmund Vance Cook, poet and Shakespearean scholar.

400 ATTEND HEARING ON ROAD RELOCATION

Weyauwega Delegation Wants Route to Continue Through That Village

More than 400 persons, including 50 Weyauwega business men and members of the Weyauwega Lions club, attended a hearing before the Wisconsin highway commission in the church basement at West Bloomfield yesterday afternoon at which testimony was taken on a proposed relocation of Highway 49.

The present highway passes through Bloomfield and joins Highway 10 at Sunset curve. The road from the Waushara-co line to Sunset curve covers a distance of about four miles. The relocation, as supported by the Weyauwega contingent, would cut off about two miles of this road and the new highway would follow County Trunk U from Bloomfield to Sunset Curve.

A small group of Waupaca persons presented a plan for relocating the road between the Waushara-co line and Waupaca, to cut Weyauwega from the route. Fred Fischer, of the Waupaca Chamber of Commerce, headed this group. The highway commissioners, however, indicated that the proposal from the Waupaca representatives would not be considered because it involved the construction of a considerable length of new highway.

Highway 49 is to be paved next summer.

ROTARY HELPS WORLD PEACE, SAYS SYMONDS

Business, Professional Men from All Countries Develop Fellowship

The effect of international Rotarian gatherings on world peace was discussed by Charles Symonds, Iron Mountain, Mich., governor of the tenth district of Rotary International at the meeting of the local club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon.

Th governor reported the statement of the German delegate at the General assembly held in Austria last summer, that "Rotary is doing more for world peace than the League of Nations". He spoke of the spirit of these international gatherings, where business and professional men from all countries of the world develop a fellowship that is not characteristic of conferences dealing with disarmament problems.

He felt that if Rotarians could exert their influence on the powers that be to secure the reduction of armament appropriations much of the presents distrust and misunderstanding among European nations could be wiped out. He reminded his audience that the world is this year appropriating four billion dollars for armaments, and that the United States army and navy appropriations have swelled from $57,500,000 in 1930 to $739,000,000 this year.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS OPENING

Plans for the annual Christmas opening of Appleton merchants are nearing completion, according to J. Edward Murphy, chairman of the special chamber of commerce committee in charge. The retail division of the chamber sponsors the event. Mr. Murphy's committee has been meeting during the past two weeks, making arrangements for the affair to be held the latter part of this month.

faculty for getting into things with which she apparently has no connection, and because the Atlantic ocean is no longer the barrier it was, Mr. Symonds felt that this country has a right to be interested in the armament problems of Europe.

The district governor listed some of the dreams of Rotary which have come through local and international fellowship gatherings, community and better business service—and urged all members to work for the realization of this big dream of Rotary, world peace.

He granted Chesterton, Sinclair Lewis and Mencken their attitudes toward Rotary, and then showed how the results of the "service above self" motto of the organization keeps it from being mere Babblity.

He felt that if Rotarians could exert their influence on the powers that be to secure the reduction of armament appropriations much of the presents distrust and misunderstanding among European nations could be wiped out. Votes to Recommend to Council That No Action Be Taken on Matter

The ordinance committee sat down to a feast of ordinances Tuesday night, and didn't rise from the table until after midnight. For five hours they chewed on six proposed regulations including one on the moving picture operator ordinance.

Then it recommended to the council that no action be taken on the ordinance, that the ordinance be dropped, and that the technical change in the ordinance be adopted, that the change in zoning at the west end of College-ave be denied, and that the heavy industry ordinance be tabled until a public hearing can be held.

By a 4 to 2 vote the committee adopted a resolution stating that inasmuch as the moving picture operator problem is a labor problem involving relations between employer and employee it should never have come before the council, that the question of public safety is a matter which comes under the direction of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission and the state legislature, and that therefore the council take no action on the proposed ordinance.

Resulted in Hearings

The proposed ordinance, which calls for a separate operator for each moving picture projection booth, has caused much agitation among theatre owners and operators. Several public hearings have been held, and the council has been besieged with resolutions, petitions and recommendations from both sides.

The amendment to the ordinance provides that all crows from which milk is sold be subjected to the contagious abortion test. The change in the bus licensing ordinance merely adds urban busses to the ordinance now controlling interurban bus licenses, and the building ordinance defines the words lots and corner lots. It adopts the latter ordinance will remove the rear yard restriction on corner lots by making what was otherwise considered an inside lot a corner lot. This will make it possible to build on a larger area of a corner lot.

Fifteen west and property owners protested the answer of six blocks to the council. The ordinance was from the commercial and light manufacturing company. The ordinance committee waived the recommendation of the planning commission and advised that the ordinance be quashed.

The committee recommends that the ordinance placing a row of lots on the north side of College-ave be held over until property owners can express their opinions at a public hearing.

CONSCIENCE FUND STILL RECEIVES MANY BIG GIFTS

Most Contributors Say They Defrauded Government Sometime

Washington—The famous old "Conscience Fund" continues to do business as usual.

The amounts received each year by the treasury from persons who say they once cheated their Uncle Sam fluctuate perhaps as widely as the human conscience itself and there is never anything to indicate that hard times either stimulate consciences or cause folks to hold back who otherwise might contribute. But there is always something coming indicated that the amount sent by anonymous persons in the fiscal year 1931 about equals the $6,371 received in 1930.

The "fund" received $30,000 in 1929 and only $118.76 in 1928, the lowest amount in a very long time. The big year was 1916 with its $34,923, thanks to a record breaking deposit of $30,000 by a gentleman concerning whose identity the treasury hasn't the slightest idea. Since the first centime received about $5 in 1811, the government has received about $600,000 in this manner.

There isn't really a "Conscience Fund," as seekers after donations or loans for worthy causes have to be advised again and again. The government takes the money, which is often sent in an envelope without explanation and often with the comment that the sender, once defrauded the government, and accounts for it under miscellaneous funds as "money received from persons unknown." The cash goes into the general fund.

Recent receipts have been largely from income tax evaders and veterans whose memories go back to the war days or who have since received money from the Veterans' Bureau to which they were not entitled. But there is the annual crop of folks who "once used a postage stamp twice" and so send in an uncanceled stamp to square things.

Religion figures importantly in the explanations. A man in Chicago recently wrote: "I want to get this off my mind. I have been converted and am now accepting opportunities to preach the Gospel and do not want this to stand in my way." Some years ago, it appeared, he had taken a box of cartridges from a National Guard rifle range. Ministers and directors of missions often address the treasury for information about the "fund," apparently on behalf of persons who think they owe the government some restitution. Sometimes they themselves send along money received from such persons.

Others send articles, the significance of the gift being mysterious. Three electric signal bulbs and an old razor have come in, addressed to the "Conscience Fund," more or less recently.

One man sent in a few dollars with the assertion that he had been impelled to do so by "voices in the air." Classic cases include that of the man who mailed a quarter to pay for pebbles, acorns, and leaves which he had taken as souvenirs from the Gettysburg National Cemetery years previously; the Civil War veteran who paid in $200 not many years ago for a mule stolen during his service; the man once found one on the street and kept it; the woman who sent four cents because she had once removed a newspaper from the files at the Library of Congress, and the man who wanted to send $3,000, but cut the bill in half and wouldn't send the other half until convinced that the first package had been received.

An ex-soldier recently wrote to find out if the unidentified "buddy" who 12 years ago had stolen $26 from his pants as he slept on a homebound transport hadn't ever become conscience-stricken and sent $26 to the "fund." If so, the loser could still use it. The $26 has not yet been received.

Mayans First People To Live In Central America

Washington—(AP)—Evidence that the Mayas, remains of whose mighty cities now are buried in Central American jungles, were the first people ever to live in that region has been discovered by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Oliver Ricketson, Jr., archaeologist of the institution, reported his expedition had dug down to bed rock on the site of Uxactun, an ancient Maya city in Guatemala, and had found 10,000 relics at the deepest levels. This, he said, he said that part of the world must have been uninhabited before the Mayas, arrived about 600 years before Christ. They probably came from the north, after crossing from Asia by way of Bering strait.

The Mayas built grand pyramids and other structures and developed a civilization comparable to that of ancient Egypt.

Deep below the floor of the plaza of Uxactun, the Carnegie scientists found a series of six pavements. Below the lowest was a refuse heap of some ancient Maya household. In it were crude bone implements such as needles, made

SLUM LIVING HABITS IN CITY'S NEW HOMES

Sheffield, England—(AP)—Families moved from slum areas to new homes don't always manage to pull their standard of living up at the same time Sheffield has found.

Nearly 300 slum families were moved into new quarters and investigation of the circumstances of 100 of them has led social workers to conclude that 30 per cent are again living under slum conditions.

Ten per cent show a definite improvement, their success in living up to their new surroundings being characterized as "amazing." The others are doing "fairly well."

The best result was definite improvement in health. Infant mortality was exactly half that in the slum area.

SURF BOARD RIDER CONQUERS CHANNEL

Folkestone, England—(AP)—The English channel has been crossed in an even dozen ways, now that a young Frenchman, Roger Tronquet, has surfboarded across.

Up to the time Tronquet did his water toboggan act, the channel had been crossed by balloon, hydro-cycle, motor-cycle, airplane, submarine, punt, canoe, glider, 11 ft. dinghy water skis and the ordinary channel steamer.

Tronquet's feet were bleeding from the constant wash of water across the board when he arrived here. It took about seven hours to make the crossing.

His only reason was that no one else had tried it.

CLARION TO SHOW PICTORIAL VIEWS OF SOVIET RUSSIA

High School Annual This Year to Have Unique Art
Design

With a pictorial description of glamorous Russia, its picturesque peasantry, the rounded domes of St. Peter's and cobbled city streets, this year's Clarion, student yearbook of Appleton high school, promises to be one of the most beautiful and unique annuals ever undertaken by high school students.

High school students will do all of the art work for the book by hand. According to present plans divisional pages will be glowing Russian scenes done in Russian colors, subordinating the actual division announcement of the department to artistry. High school art students are working on scenes to submit for selection for the book. The first part of the book will be done in color on antique paper and the whole effect of this year's annual is to keep away from the convention school annual.

The Clarion has received an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press association only once before and it is hoped by this year's editors that this year's book will again receive the highest rating in the country. Norman Zanzig was the editor of the All-American Clarion in 1929, the silver anniversary book. The yearbook has received a first class rating every year since then with Arthur Roemer editing the 1930 annual and Donald Mueller last year's book.

WARNS OF DANGER IN CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Warning to merchants and others who have use for Christmas lighting systems and fixtures for decorative purposes, that faulty installation may result in fires or accidents, has been issued by Louis E. Luebke, city electrical inspector. Although the Christmas season has not yet arrived, Mr. Luebke points out that plans now are being made for displays and with them there should be plans for safety.

Cooperation in proper installation, inspection and recommendation of lighting fixtures and apparatus is offered by the electrical inspector.
Certificates of approval will be issued where installations are found to comply with the electrical inspector's regulations.

Proper installation and inspection of lighting systems may save merchants and others the inconvenience of fleeing from a store or home because of fire with resultant losses,

OUR NAVAL POLICY
The President's slash in the naval budget, his adherence to the London pact and agreement to the suspension of all naval construction for a year should not be misconstrued.
He does not mean to scrap the navy. His position was taken at a time of great need when retrenchment even of essential things is necessary, and serves also as a valuable contribution in the way of demonstrating to the rest of the world not only the peaceful purpose which actuates this nation but the set intention to attempt to guide the rest of the world along peaceful paths.
The peace-at-any-price people, the genuine pacifists, taking Mr. Hoover's plan as an indication of the dominance of his Quaker blood and that America's traditional policy was to be entirely forsaken, let loose a barrage of misstatement, an assault upon this country's "militaristic policies," that brought from the administration a quick repudiation of them and their plan to strip the nation of all defenses.
America must keep up a first-class navy at all times or America must turn its back upon the charted course it has pursued for generations and upon which its prow is still set. The policy to be pursued of course will be settled by the American people, not upon continuous volleys of misstatement but upon cold facts easily found by anyone who has any affection for the truth.
Let us deal with a few figures.
The total income of the people and corporations in this country for 1930 was 89 billion dollars. To give some idea of the size and wealth of this storehouse, Great Britain (United Kingdom), our nearest competitor in national income, had a little more than 18 billions.
That income determines the course of life, the kind of life, the quality of life which the American people are to pursue. It is substantially augmented by the billions of dollars worth of goods shipped to all parts of the world.
Measured by any standard of law or custom, determined by all the usages of the past, the country has a right to conduct its operations throughout the world.
But without a navy this foreign trade of billions would be immediately jeopardized. An example will suffice. Normally this country exports to China from 100 to 200 million dollars worth of goods a year, most of which is handled along the Yangtze river, the perpetual abode of banditry and perhaps none of which could be delivered without the presence of American gunboats that patrol that river today. If this trade is cut off the men who work for the concerns interested in it aren't helped. And the farmers who sell produce to the men who work for such concerns aren't helped either.
The mere existence of this navy makes safe the lives of millions in Central America, in Haiti, Domingo, Cuba, and elsewhere throughout the world.
But indispensable as is the need and great as are the accomplishments of the navy in the way of protection, it may be surprising perhaps to many of our people to learn that its peaceful accomplishments far exceed any other. The following are some statements often made about the American navy, sustainable by facts:
"The navy's usefulness to science and industry justify its maintenance in the highest efficiency though it may never be called upon to fire a hostile shot."
"The navy's errands of mercy have saved more lives than all its guns have ever destroyed."
"The navy is the strong right arm of the state department."
"The Monroe Doctrine is as strong as the navy and no stronger."
Where would the development of radio, marine engineering, ship propulsion, electrical development, the construction of dry docks, floating cranes, the world's knowledge of ocean currents, its information on weather conditions, its patrol of the North Atlantic in wintertime, all these accomplishments and others, be without the navy?

The navy has contributed wonderfully to citizenship. Its diplomatic victories throughout the world far outshine its battle victories, glorious as the latter are.
When flood and earthquake, volcanic eruption, pest, plague or disaster of any kind faces humanity the first button touched is that of the naval department.
No careful American is in favor of jeopardizing the safety of America or creating a condition of alarm and apprehension that would be certain to follow any dangerous weakening of our naval forces. There are other and more satisfactory ways of creating naval equality, in saving millions wasted by competition in armaments, in avoiding a mere feverish program of building.
Between the two extremes, the Navy League and the pacifists, the President's course is a safe and sensible one.

BLAZING NEW TRAILS
Now that Alphonse Capone's domicile is restricted to the narrow confines of a cell, some of the ramifications of his body politics are coming to light. Loyal supporters and beneficiaries of the gang organization can no longer meet the boss in accustomed haunts veiled from the rude gaze of public scrutiny.
It was necessary, however, that respects be paid to the chief whose purse was overflowing, yet whose long arm pointed a menacing finger. Though due for retirement from the active affairs of the organization, the memory of his benevolence or malevolence still lingers with those who came within the mystic circle.
So we have the picture of strange bedfellows who called at the county jail to pay their respects—a state senator, a former city official and several men whose names are widely known in Chicago. Furtive visits these, yet the fear of the spotlight was less than the possible danger of the king's wrath or the memory of substantial emoluments.
Capone's bodyguard, appearing daily in federal court, armed and with threatening mien toward important witnesses, was a former court bailiff. Only a few days previous to the conviction of the gang chief, another court procedure had disclosed the transactions between a banker and a known beer racketeer.
These incidents merely confirm a suspected alignment which is difficult to believe, yet which offers explanation of much of the power of modern organized crime.
It has taken the federal government to open up trails which county and city sleuths were unwilling to follow; or if followed, to lose them in a devastating surge of materialism which has put its blight on many fields of endeavor.
Fortunately there seems to be an awakened public desire to make more distinct the line between respectability and lawlessness. It is to be hoped that the swift descent, after Capone's incarceration, of Chicago's detective force upon his well-known headquarters at the Lexington hotel, only to find the place deserted, was the beginning of a real effort towards law enforcement, rather than the comical gesture of the stage acrobat's clown assistant taking credit for his master's tricks.

RUBBER
The DuPont Company has announced the development of synthetic rubber, composed of salt, water and acetylene.
It was a well known fact that Mr. Edison was working upon the production of this same product at the time of his death, and that some of his associates had already organized a company to deal commercially with his product.
The DuPont composition is asserted to have strong resistance qualities to the action of oxygen, gasoline and other chemicals, usually highly detrimental in their effect upon rubber.
It is not claimed that the synthetic product will displace, at least immediately, natural rubber in the manufacture of tires. Some day perhaps it will, which will be rather tough on those who have spent millions in the development of rubber plantations.
More than 1,000,000 college students are numbered in the United States, and only 45,000 in England. The U. S. has eight times as many students as Great Britain.

POST-MORTEM
THIS IS written on the second day of the stay-at-home session. . . . Doc came in, stuck a thermometer in our mug and then started asking questions. . . . he's almost as bad as our dentist. . . . who always puts a lot of machinery in the victim's trap and asks for an opinion on prohibition. . . . anyway, the Doc tells us our temperature is down to normal. . . . but that was before the mailman brought the bills for last month. . . . discovered we hadn't paid any the month before. . . . had a complete relapse. . . . temperature is the only thing we own that's going up. . . . wish Amalgamated Gadgets could get a fever. . . .
By this time it should be evident which party has the majority in Congress for the coming session. And whichever it is, there probably won't be much joy to it. Anything that Congress does this winter is gonna be wrong.
The mailman just staggered up to the house again. No bills this time. Must have left the rest of 'em down at the office.

Just Folks
By Edgar A. Guest
MAN AND ANIMAL
The beasts find life a hunt for food, Well gorged in peace they sleep; They can display an angry mood But neither laugh or weep. They raise their young and turn them out In search of meat to roam about, For beasts have not the wish to spare Their young the biting touch of care.
Their instinct binds them hard and fast Within their settled groove— The ancient methods of their past No genius can improve. The beasts no sacrifice will make For duty's or for friendship's sake. No fox or wolf will share his feast With any weaker fellow beast.
Their wailing is the hunger cry, Their flesh can suffer pain, But sad thoughts cannot make them sigh, They know no loss and gain. Like those that fret the human soul, Pride does not urge them towards a goal; They have no yearning for renown And pleasure does not break them down.
But I would rather be a prey To all the woes of men Than live to search for meat all day And drag it to a den. I'd rather ten times over weep For cherished joys I couldn't keep, Than share a beast's contented mood Whenever I was filled with food. (Copyright, 1931, Edgar A. Guest)

Personal Health Talks
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THE SEASON AND THE WEATHER MAY INFLUENCE THE STATE OF THE TONSILS
We have only recently learned that Vitamin A or maybe it is D—I confess I can't decide whether it is the one or the other or both or what—has a good deal to do with the state of the tonsils and adenoids, especially in children. Don't ask me to explain, because as I frankly tell you I can't make head or tail of the vitamin business, and just between you and me I suspect most of the experts are a bit vague about it yet. But I do believe it is important that children should receive adequate amounts of all the vitamins, particularly A and D, and any others as fast as they may be discovered and introduced to come-to science. Honestly folks, science and commerce are so intimate these days that it is difficult to keep them separated—of course I don't mean they should be kept apart or anything like that, but oh, you know what I mean. Still it is essential that a person in my position scrutinize carefully all the scientific stuff that comes along, lest he be caught by a lot of commercial hooey. Especially findings or studies or researches that come from some "institute" or other. Why, you can put no more confidence in that term "institute" today than you can in the trick title "doctor."
Among the things we think we know about vitamins is this: The Vitamin A influence is imparted to food or body substitutes by the ultra-violet rays of sunlight (or any artificial source or ultraviolet). The open air life, and lots of sunshine on naked skin, is great medicine for children, and indeed for all of us, but it is especially good for children and there is much evidence available now that such life tends to prevent enlargement of the tonsils and adenoid body.
Indeed some good physicians are treating enlarged and infected tonsils with special gadgets which apply the ultraviolet directly to the site of the trouble, as well as sun baths or sun-lamp treatment of the skin surface.
Dr. W. E. Barron, health officer of the consolidated district, Addison, N. Y., made a cogent observation in his professional work. He was examining the pupils in a country school, some twenty children. The first three or four showed enlarged tonsils and the doctor so record of his findings. The next showed the same large tonsils. Then the doctor examined all the rest and all tonsils looked large. So he erased the marks on the first cards and recorded all as normal—a doctor can't very well say all the children are abnormal if they all have large tonsils. Besides they were all husky enough. Then about a year later he again examined the same pupils and with one or two exceptions the time they all had small tonsils! The first examination had been made at the end of a period of two weeks of rainy days. The second examination was made after a period of two or three weeks of delightful weather. Dr. Barron has cited this experience before various medical societies, but no one has offered any comment or explanation.
Not to draw too fine a point I venture to suggest that Vitamin A may not be stored in the body (as we know Vitamin D is not) and therefore after a period of cloudy or sunless weather the children are pretty low in the vitamin ration and their adenoid tissue undergoes a kind of compensatory increase. This is just my fancy. Maybe it is terrible.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Grapefruit Light!
In your column you implied you doubted the sanity of a person who would eat grapefruit when he might have orange. Do you really mean that grapefruit is less desirable for health, or—your sarcasm is no always clear, though when it is clear it is most stimulating and refreshing. (S. J. W.)
Answer—If you like grapefruit it is just as wholesome and healthful as orange. Now I wish you someone folk would cease trying the cursed grapefruit on my consciousness. I want to forget that such a thing occurs in nature if possible, and enjoy the orange crop to the full.
The Professor Told 'em
Here in (one of the best medical colleges) Professor (one of the big noises) pointed to a group of juniors in the lecture hall and said "All you men sitting in that draught are going to come down with colds in the next day or two." None of the students moved out of the draught. None of them developed any apparent illness. Nevertheless the Professor had given an impressive lesson. (C. K.)
Answer—A lesson in what? Being a professor of entomology or something doesn't make a doctor an expert in hygiene. I should say the professor gave the students a fine illustration of a man with a big head making an ass of himself. Somebody should have advised the professor to pin back his ears and go on with his lecture. Quaint sort of medical school, anyway. If it still tolerates the lecture method of teaching, are the students too dumb to read the stuff themselves?
Nasal Polypi
Can the dathymey treatment which you recommended for the removal of tonsils, be used for the removal of nasal polypi (Mrs. E. B. W.)
Answer—Yes, if the doctor is skilled in the special technique. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

The Tinymites
By Hal Cochran
THE man with vases on his back said: "These are carried on a rack. It fits across my shoulders. I don't mind this job at all. You'll see, if you will closely look, each vase is fastened with a hook. Then ropes are also used to hold them tight. They never fall."
Wee Seemey asked, "Where are you bound?" "I'll bet you cover lots of ground." "Of course I do," the man replied. "I hike the live-long day. I make my living selling these and walk from town to town at ease. The next place I will stop is nearly twenty miles away."
"My goodness! That's too far for men," said Clowney. "If I'd walk that, gee, I'd have to go to bed and rest. But you are big and strong. I s'pose, when you are used to it and wake up each day feeling fit, you just start out with spirits high and travel right along."
The man just smiled and said, "You're right." And then he walked right out of sight. The Times asked the Travel Man what plans he had in mind. "I think," the Travel Man replied, "that we will either walk or ride into the open country just to see what we can find."
Then up to them an auto roared. It stopped so they could help aboard. "You're welcome to a ride," exclaimed the man up in the seat. So off they traveled, down the road. "It's fun to travel," Clowney said, "when you're not on your feet."
When they had gone a mile or so the friendly Travel Man yelled, "Whoa!" The truck came to a standstill and the bunch left with a bound. The Travel Man then pointed to a fence and said, "There's something new. That fence is made of cactus that grows right out of the ground."

A Bystander In Washington
BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—A quiet, studious young man who looks more like a movie star than a diplomat is the American government's eyes in Manchuria during the Sino-Japanese quarrel.
Laurence Eustis Salisbury, second secretary in the American embassy at Tokyo, was ordered into Manchuria immediately by the state department when trouble developed. With George Hanson from Harbin he was instructed to visit the troubled area and keep Washington informed.
Salisbury knows the Far East. The year he was graduated from the University of Chicago with a bachelor of philosophy degree he elected to go to the orient. For a year he taught English in Japan.
A specialist on Japanese affairs, he is said by his superiors at the department to be one of the most promising young diplomats in the foreign service. His record thus far has been brilliant. In fewer than 11 years he has climbed from the obscure post of student interpreter to second secretary.
Served in British Army
Salisbury's start in diplomacy was in 1920. He had just finished serving two years in the British army as a second lieutenant in the world war when he presented himself at the state department in Washington to take the foreign service examination.
Five months later he was on his way to Kobe, Japan, to act as an interpreter. With the exception of a brief detail to the department in Washington and a few months in Paris, he has been in Japan ever since. He is now only 37.
He served at Kobe and Nagasaki before going to the embassy in Tokyo.
When William Castle, undersecretary of state, went to Tokyo last year to serve as special ambassador during the London naval conference, he met young Salisbury.
It perhaps was Castle who suggested to Secretary Stimson that Salisbury was the man for the job in Manchuria.
Authority on Japan
Salisbury was in Washington last month. He sailed for Tokyo on September 5 and arrived there just about the time that trouble developed in Manchuria. Secretary Stimson ordered him to hit the trail immediately.
His years in Japan have made him familiar with the language and customs of the Japanese. He speaks Japanese fluently.
He is tall, bespectacled and handsome. Hanson, his Manchuria traveling companion, is an authority on the Far East, too. He has had much more experience than Salisbury.
Two top diplomats' movements in Manchuria are kept pretty much secret.

Today's Anniversary
"SOCIETY OF NATIONS"
On Nov. 4, 1917, first official steps for the formation of a "society of nations" were taken by the League of the Rights of Man in Paris.
The League of the Rights of Man formally went on record in favor of a "society of nations." Many members of the chamber of deputies were included in the league.
On this date also the largest single contract for ships was awarded by the Emergency Fleet Corporation.
This was a contract for 70 vessels of 8000 tons each to be built within 12 months at a cost of $100,000,000.
The contract was awarded to the American International Corporation, operating the fabricating yard at Hog Island, on the Delaware river. The American International Corporation previously had a contract for 50 vessels of 7500 tons each at a cost of $50,000,000.
An announcement was made on this date by the United States Shipbuilding Adjustment Board that a uniform minimum wage scale had been adopted for the Pacific coast shipbuilding yards.

SIGNAL LIGHTS BEING ERECTED AT CROSSING

"Stop and Go" System Will Work Automatically
When Cars Approach

Installation of the new "stop and go" lights at the intersection of Highways 10 and 26 at Lepp's Corners was started this week by a crew of Outagamie-co highway department workmen, directed by a man from the state highway commission. The new lights will be in operation in about a week, according to F. R. Appleton, highway commissioner.

The lights are of the automatic type, regulated when an approaching car passes over a "pad" in the highway about 150 feet ahead of the intersection. If the lights facing the approaching motorist on Highway 10 are red the contact with the pad sets the operating machinery in motion and the lights change from red to amber and from amber to green, in time for the approaching car to be given the right of way through the intersection. This light then remains green and the lights on Highway 26 remain red until a car approaches on the latter route and the machinery operates to change the lights again.

If a car approaches when the lights are green, they will remain so, thus giving that car the right of way. Should two cars approach the highway from opposite directions at

OFFERED Y POST IN 32 FOREIGN NATIONS

New York — (CPA) — Francis S. Harmon, newspaper publisher of Hattiesburg, Miss., has been offered the post of directing head of Y. M. C. A. work in 32 foreign countries, it was announced Tuesday at general headquarters of the association.

Mr. Harmon first became interested in Y. M. C. A. work as a high school youth of 15. During the war, he went to France as a private and returned a second lieutenant. He is publisher of the Hattiesburg American.

Dr. John R. Mott of Montclair, N. J., general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.'s international committee, has been in charge of the organization's activities abroad. Some months ago he signified his intention of resigning in order to devote his entire time to his duties as president of the World Alliance of Young Men's Christian associations and of the International Missionary council.

the same time the machinery is so regulated as to give the right of way to traffic on Highway 10.

Equipment also has been received by the highway department for a similar set of lights to be installed at the intersection of Highways 114 and 10 at Waverly beach corner. This set of lights will be installed when the workmen have completed the job at Lepp's Corners, according to Mr. Appleton. The state highway commission is furnishing both sets of lights, as well as the lights to be installed at Gillingham's Corners in Winnebago-co, where Highways 41 and 26 intersect.

Famous Leland Stanford Grid Team Of 37
Years Ago To Meet At White House

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1931, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—There'll be a huddle at the White House on the evening of Nov. 12—a huddle of the same football team which 37 years ago won for Leland Stanford university the championship of the west with Herbert Hoover as financial manager.

Comprising one of the most remarkable athletic teams of American record not only in scholastic status but in adult achievement, members of the group will come from London and Honolulu, from San Francisco, Illinois, Texas, Idaho and New York. Every one of the 15 now living is prominent. One is president of the United States, another is an Illinois state senator, two of them are judges, three are physicians and surgeons, five are engineers, three are bankers associated with the leading financial institutions of America and one is a rancher.

The late Walter Camp was coach and of the 15 men in the 'varsity' squad. Every one received a degree.

Jackson Reynolds, now president of the First National bank of New York and recently chairman of the organization committee of the Bank of International Settlements in Switzerland, played halfback and ran through the whole Chicago team, coached by Alonzo Starg, for a 12 to 0 victory in the first big east-west game of modern football.

That was in 1894 before a crowd of about 3,000 people in Los Angeles—then a record crowd.

Paul Downing, the captain, is now vice president and general manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric company. He was on the 'varsity' team four years when the halves were 45 minutes and he never missed a minute from any game, never yielding to a substitute and never having time taken out for injuries.

Abraham Lewis, now a millionaire banker of Honolulu, and Alfred Spalding, professor of obstetrics in Stanford today, are the two ends who survive. Stuart Cotton, a San Francisco judge who also played end, died during the World war.

Guy Cochran, prominent surgeon of Los Angeles, who like Downing never missed a minute of a game in four years, played tackle along with Will Campbell, now superior court judge in the state of Washington.

Charles Fichert, at present attorney for the California State Board of Health, who played guard, was the San Francisco district attorney who convicted "Tom" Mooney now serving a life term for dynamiting in the Preparedness parade of 1916.

him at center was a hydro-electric engineer who died during the World war.

William Harrison, now vice president of the Bank of Italy and formerly a construction engineer, played quarterback as did Thomas Code, now a grain broker in San Francisco, after 39 years as a mining engineer.

Besides Jackson Reynolds, the backfield included Dr. Jule Frankenhelmer, a well known San Francisco physician, Charles Dele, a judge in Hawaii for many years and now practicing law there, and Herbert Kennedy, counsel in London for the department of commerce, who is in Washington now on vacation. Herbert Hicks, who managed the team itself, is now a Republican state senator from Rockford, Ill.

For the last ten days preceding the big game in San Francisco when Stanford defeated California 8 to 0, Coach Camp and Studentbody Treasurer Hoover had moved the Stanford squad to a quiet place for isolated practice and quiet. "Bert" Hoover's financial arrangements were made on a lump sum basis with the proprietor of the small hotel. The hotel keeper guessed wrong—for he had no idea of football appetites. Feeling ran high after the game and some of the students mixed it up with revolvers.

Several bullet wounds were carried away but there were no fatalities. Dinner will be served to the leaders in the state dining room of the

"You needn't tell me
—I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

FRESH

in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Smoke a FRESH cigarette

CAMELS
Made FRESH — Kept FRESH

Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. In offices and homes, even in the dry atmosphere of artificial heat, the Camel Humidor Pack delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked.

Facts From Dry Probe Revealed

FACTS from the suppressed Caraway prohibition investigation, carried on shortly before the Mrs. investigation, were dispensed to 175 women at the Methodist church Tuesday evening by Miss Ada Townsend of the Northwestern university faculty, in a speech entitled "Brewers and Billionaires." All statements made by Miss Townsend were taken from the official report of the Caraway investigation, from the files of the Association for the Repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, and government records found in the government depository in the Chicago library.

The speaker, who is chairman of the citizenship committee of the national organization of the Women's Home Missionary society, stated that the money of the Association for the Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is being used to secure state legislative votes for the repeal of the prohibition amendment, to elect to the United States senate men who have wet tendencies, and to bring about the cut of appropriations for prohibition enforcement. She said the association is going so far as to attempt to influence school boards to eliminate any reference to alcohol in their school health programs and that it has already brought about a decrease in the federal appropriation for printing prohibition literature.

Seven Bear Burden

Seven men living in four states are paying 60 per cent of the expenses of the association, and they are pouring their money into this cause because they feel that if the liquor traffic is once more legalized the government revenue secured from it would lessen the taxation on their property, she said.

She read from French and Italian newspapers to show that the vine-growers of these two countries are supporting the association. These newspaper reports stated that the anti-prohibition workers in the United States are becoming so proficient in their publicity against prohibition that they are arousing much sentiment.

Miss Townsend told her audience that Wisconsin is particularly afflicted with the work of this association, and that records show that for several years the organization has kept a man at Madison, to swing votes in the legislature, at a salary of $2,000 a month.

Miss Townsend explained to the group that the reports of the Caraway investigation, from which she secured most of her information, were suppressed at Washington, but that officials reports of it can be had in any government document depository.

At a meeting preceding the address, the I. B. club, which sponsored Miss Townsend's appearance here, made final plans for the Social Union Christmas bazaar, to be held Dec. 1 and 2. At the December meeting of the group a box of gifts and toys for the Oneida mission will be packed. Members of the club will make a trip to Oneida sometime soon.

Schaefer, fancy work; Mrs. R. J. Manser, "five and ten"; Mrs. Edith Wright and Mrs. J. G. Rosebush, recreation hall; and members of the I. B. club, candy and costume jewelry.

The group voted to do special relief work in cooperation with other relief organizations in the city, pledged its support to a comprehensive program for the Wesleyan Players, and made a new pledge to the building fund.

Reports on November activities, the Calcutta tea, trip to Kohler, children's Halloween party and harvest supper were presented, and the eight groups surveyed the work accomplished during the past month, which includes 11 group meetings, 62 personal calls, 16 special activities, and the disposition of a $380 cargo.

Teach Child Manners In Proper Way

BY ANGELO FATEMI
"Is that child going home tomorrow, mother?"
"Yes. He was only to stay for the weekend. Why?"
Why? If anybody had told me that I would feel like smacking a kid every time I met him I wouldn't have believed it. Now I'd believe anything of the kind they told me. I've never been so tempted to smack a kid as I've been these last three days.

"I must say he is rather trying. Yet he seems to try hard to please us. He's very polite, I am sure."
"Polite? If that's what you call being polite, I'm for being savage. First he reaches across the table in front of you to get the biggest piece on the plate. With his hand on it he says, 'Excuse me, please.' The next minute he knocks your teaspoon out of your hand reaching for the butter. He was afraid that I was going to pass it to you and he would have to wait a second. But he said, 'Oh, I'm sorry' without losing a cheer."

"You're hard on him Tom. All boys are hungry and—"
"I'm not complaining about his appetite. It's his polite ill breeding that I'm roaring about. When the parade came by you gave him the window all to himself. He had the first glimpse of the parade. He didn't see enough one time so he rushed to where you were standing, elbows you back, steps on my foot, and says, 'Excuse me please, I have to see the drum major.'"

"He has to see him, you see. Never mind what happens to you or somebody else so long as he gets what he has to have. And all the time covering himself with that sticky varnish of 'Excuse me,' 'sorry,' 'I beg pardon.' Believe me, mother if he belonged to me—"
"Sh, sh, Tom. He's going home tomorrow."

"And welcome. Don't invite him again until he loses his polite phrases and develops a little good breeding."

Perhaps the child was not wholly to blame. Some people put all the emphasis on the right thing to say. Say please, say excuse me. What did

by MARGERY HALE
© 1931 by NEA Service, Inc.

YOU think that you wouldn't talk things over, don't you, Sue? I thought so, too, Grace was saying. "But sometimes, when something has upset you, you feel better when you hang it out in the sun."

"What happened, Grace?" Sarah asked, playing with the chocolate sauce on her mint ice cream.

"There was a tea one afternoon. I was invited. A famous foreign architect was in town. Jimmy was asked too. And somehow or other the invitations were delivered by telephone. Jimmy's at the office. Miss at home. Secretaries ought to be instructed to say, 'Oh, by the way, Mr. Jones or Smith, your wife will be there, also.' Maybe the expensive ones are."

"I put on my best frock... a green thing with a fur belt, and was glad that my ankles were slender and my skin creamier than that woman's. The tea was a hurry-up affair. Jimmy wasn't home at noon, and he didn't call me, so I took it for granted that he was expecting to meet me at the place, and I went."

"Jimmy wasn't there. I was having a nice time, and the party was grand and I had almost forgotten that I had a husband when he came. And with him was the charming young widow. When he saw me he looked sort of surprised. I don't think it even dawned on him that there was anything wrong about it, or amiss, until he saw my face. And I did not get my mask adjusted in time."

"The woman... her name is Natalie Webber... was delighted. Not because she had Jimmy. She knew that he wasn't any more interested in her than a war doll would have been. But because she could let me get a view of her."

"I couldn't let her pull anything over on me. I felt sorry for Jimmy. I happen to be in love with him, you know. And still, he had to learn a lesson. He had to learn how to defend himself from females with an acquisitive touch."

"Somebody or other, whom I had never met before, and who didn't know I was married, or didn't care, had asked me to go to dinner. I had laughed and refused. Now I managed to work my way back into an acceptance, and when I finally drifted to the group where Jimmy and the Natalie person were talking, I told Jimmy that he had better eat down town... I had a dinner engagement... and that was that."

"The man spoke up and let him know it wasn't a ruse." She laughed. "But I didn't go. Somehow or other I just couldn't. I managed to get one of those three-minute-to-come-on headaches, and went home... to wait for Jimmy. I supposed that out of spite he would take that creature somewhere and spend all the money on her that we had been saving for a rug for the hall. I would have. But Jimmy's stronger than I am. He came home. And he looked as though the roof of the world had fallen in, and he had to draw up plans for another one."

"We made up... you know that... Mrs. Webber had come into his office and made him think she was asked to the thing and he couldn't do anything but take her along... when I understood I didn't care, because things of that sort are bound to happen all the time. Life needs all sorts of spice."

"But what made you tell us all about it?" Sue asked.

She caught the swift exchange of glances between the other two girls. She turned her head uneasily.

Vionnet Blouse

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

Of course you'll want one of the new Vionnet blouses.

And isn't this one full of dash and chic?

The sharp diagonal closing is decidedly slimming. It seems to run up to meet the softly falling revers that also do their bit in detracting from breadth. The sleeves have the deep flared back cuffs, so modish. It's perfectly dear in eggshell crepe satin.

Style No. 3167 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material.

Wool crepe and canton-faille crepe are ideally suited to this becoming model.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

TOWN GOSSIPS SHOULD NOT INTERFERE WITH FRIENDSHIP—TOO MANY NIGHT-CLUBS SPOIL A GOOD IMPRESSION

Dear Virginia Vane We have been advised by a very influential woman in our town to give up going with an intimate girl friend of ours. She has taken to going around with a fellow at least seven years older than herself and it doesn't look so good in the eyes of the town. We have nothing against her and cannot believe that she would do anything wrong. We think it might be best to go to her and tell her that people are talking about her, and advise her to give up this certain fellow but the task is more difficult than one would think. Please help.

PEG AND JAY.

You haven't yet been quite desirous about the cause of complaint against this girl. Frankly, if a row of people are going to get started up because a girl happens to like a man several years older than herself — they must represent the most backward provincial village in the world. And their opinion is to be ignored certainly.

Seems to me you ought to be able to make this decision for yourself. You like your friend — had piled rocks against Hugh's presumably you have reason to respect her and believe in her — and it ought to take more than the word of an outsider to persuade you to turn her down.

If you're ready to throw up friendship because gossip has influenced your good informant to warn you against her—then there never was very much friendship in the first place, and she loses nothing. Personally I think your influential friend makes a mistake in suggesting the breaking up of any friendship unless her advice is based on definite facts and not on idle rumors.

You will accomplish no good by telling the bad news to your mutual friend. If she is a sensible self-respecting girl, with an intelligence of her own, she'll resent your assumption that she can't manage her own affairs. If she believes she'll stiffen her belief in herself. In the end you may lose her friendship faster and more permanently by attempting to steer a course for her—than by any other means.

If you are really fond of this girl and you trust her and respect her, have the strength of your convictions and stick by her. That is, after all the only proof of real friendship which you can offer her. No need for you to try a reform act. If things are really bad, other people will attend to that end of the business for you.

Suggest More Home Dates

G. A. All of the best ways of getting in with the parents of your fair lady is to suggest more dates at home with her — and fewer night-club parties. Of course she's just at the age where she wants to tear around as much as possible—but her parents are at the age where they view with some disapproval such a typical night-club bound as you seem to be.

You say you have a more serious side of your nature and if this is true, you'd better get to work and develop it. You aren't going to make a hit with the old folks by showing too great a familiarity

NICE AND FRIENDLY

El Paso, Tex. — Nice and friendly neighbors are Mrs. Mattie Nichols and Tom Hughes. Hailed in court after a backyard argument, it was found that, after Mrs. Nichols had piled rocks against Hughes's fence, and he had warned her not to, she turned a water hose on him. In retaliation, Hughes threw water on her. Word led to word and the quarrel nearly led to blows before it ended in court.

MY NEIGHBOR Says —

Leftover onions and cabbage should never be put away in the refrigerator unless they are placed in a tightly covered dish.

Peach stains may be removed from white linen of the part that is stained by dipping first in cold water, then covered with cream of tartar. Hang the cloth in the sun.

Let water come to a full rolling boil when poaching eggs. Drop the eggs in, turn out the gas and the eggs will finish cooking in the boiling water.

When preparing canned asparagus for serving, open bottom instead of the top, so that the tips may be removed whole.

APPROVE CITY SCHOOL BUDGET OF $104,862

Council Also Agrees to Vocational School Budget of $18,250

Menasha — A city school budget calling for a total of $104,862 for the year ending March 15, 1932, was adopted by the common council Tuesday evening. The vocational school budget, calling for $18,250 for the same period, also was approved.

The budgets were presented by the board of education and the vocational board, and had been reviewed at a joint meeting with school committee members, Monday evening. The largest item on the public school estimate was $74,940.83 for teachers' salaries, and estimated receipts from miscellaneous sources other than the city totaled $15,300. Neither budget was opposed.

The proposed purchase of lots east of the city water and light plant, recommended by the water and light commission, and also for future expansion of the filtration plant, was approved. The property will be purchased at a cost not to exceed $7,000.

Grade Motion Passed

Alderman Charles Grade opened a debate by moving that city departments divide work between regular employees and men who are out of work, providing part of the money for the unemployed. Alderman Michalski objected on the ground that the street department, to which Grade had referred particularly, was working properly, securing results at the present time and should not be bound by such an action.

Mayor Remmel stated that the plan, if approved, would be effective only as far as possible, and that Alderman Michalski's objection was based on the fact that the plan had been delayed until complete organization of the welfare committee had been made. The call for question was made, however, and the motion passed by a six to four vote, Alderman Michalski, Kelly, Grode, and Michalski voting no.

Alderman Grade also reported a rumor that one of the street sweepers, 65 years old, had died. He was able to refute the rumor, but Mayor Remmel explained that the rumor had been investigated on a previous occasion and found groundless.

Must See Citizens

Relative to the proposed extension of Fifth-st., recently urged in a petition by property owners, Mayor Remmel reported that nothing further could be done until officials had conferred with those whose property is in the proposed street line. An inspection of Fifth-st. was conducted by the board of public works Saturday.

A license to operate a soft drink parlor at the Hotel Lenx, 556, Racine-st., was issued to Rinehart Gothe. No opposing votes were cast.

Petitions for street lights near the intersection of Fifth and Appleton-sts., and at the east end of Fifth-st., were granted. The street committee was authorized to cut back the fog in the intersection of Fifth and Appleton-sts. and the public buildings committee was given full power to provide for the repair of a number of windows in the city hall.

Installation of steel gages in the city offices was recommended in a motion by Alderman Charles Grade, and approved. The gages will be constructed by the Whitworth Machine company at a cost not to exceed $180.

Poor aid extended in Menasha during October totaled $1,035.57, according to the report of John Senneberger, superintendent of the poor. There was $137 charged to outside aid. The report of the city sealer of weights and measures also was read.

Mayor N. G. Remmel announced that a joint meeting of the council with the board of supervisors would be held in the city offices Monday evening. He also stated that a meeting of the board of public works, relative to two damages suits against the city, would be held this week.

A dinner was served at 6:30 to approximately 100 Pythians and guests in the club dining room. The guests were welcomed by Fred Nixon, chancellor commander, and Mayor George E. Sande. "Brownie," as he is known to the auto touring world, discussed the new automobile driver's code, defining some of the newer articles which it contains and outlining information relative to car licenses, car rules, and other parts of the code.

Following his talk the assemblage adjourned to the lodge room where several reels of motion pictures of places Mr. Rowland has visited were shown. Several reels showed beauty spots in Wisconsin which can now be reached on hard surfaced roads. He claimed Wisconsin lacks one thing in its road building program, that of cross state roads.

EDITOR WARNS ABOUT COMMUNISM IN STATE

Neenah — John B. Chapple, editor of the Ashland Press, spoke Tuesday evening at an open meeting sponsored by the Women's Tuesday club at the city hall auditorium. He discussed socialism and communism within Wisconsin. He stood ready, he claimed, to prove that some of the leading governing heads of the state, some of the legislators and many of the "higher-ups" within the state are closely affiliated with communistic work, that their system is one which drags one down to the level of an insect or animal instead of elevating and building up which the American system is supposed to do. He made a plea to keep America for Americans and help to root out this power which he alleged is getting a firm hold on our state and nation.

The meeting, the first of a series sponsored by the Tuesday club of women, was well attended.

CHURCH OBSERVES 48TH ANNIVERSARY

History of Organization Outlined by Edward Fuechsel, Treasurer

Neenah — Immanuel Lutheran church Brotherhood members and their wives gathered Tuesday evening at the church club rooms to celebrate the forty-eighth anniversary of its organization. The group contained about 100 people, who listened to a talk by the Rev. Maalen of Calumet Harbor and to a history of the organization by Edward Fuechsel, treasurer. The Brotherhood was organized Nov. 3, 1883, with 18 charter members. Only one, William Krebelen, survives. He was present at the celebration. Two others, August Jape and Henry Bartels, who have been members since 1885, also were present. Following the program a supper was served. Music was furnished by the church orchestra.

Two rules mentioned in the report of Mr. Fuechsel were abandoned in later years. One was that a band be engaged for the funeral procession of any member, the expense to be taken out of his insurance. The other was the office of Messenger, whose duty it was to notify each member of the society of the death of a member and the funeral arrangements. This was in effect before the telephone and autos, and when horses cost more than the average member could afford.

The present membership is close to 100 men. The officers are Otto Luebke, president; Otto Loehning, vice president; Fred Kehl, secretary, and Edward Fuechsel.

STATE SEEKS TO LINK RISKE AND MRS. HOFFMAN

Produce Testimony to Show Friendship Between Two

Riske Quiet

Mr. Hidde corroborated the testimony of Opper regarding what took place at Opper's saloon. Mr. Hidde also said that after the murders Riske was more quiet and nervous than usual. He said that the day after the murder he told Riske that "they should have used arsenic instead of strychnine, because it wouldn't have worked so quick." He said Riske then displayed an interest in this statement and wanted to know if arsenic came in powder form.

Several witnesses testified to hearing Kopitzke say, before his death: "It wasn't the booze, it was that damn gun."

Henry Rohloff, New London, told of having a drink with Kopitzke at the dance and Norman Bucholz, also of New London, told of being asked by Kopitzke to take a drink with him.

Other witnesses this morning included Victor Casey, Royaltown; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Reed, Tomahawk; John Clausen, Royaltown; Albert Handeschke, Lebanon; Herbert Stillman, Weyauwega; Ernest Boehm and Mrs. Rose Beaudoin, New London.

Boehm told of seeing Kopitzke and Riske together the night of the dance. Mrs. Beaudoin said she was a neighbor of the Hoffmanns and that they "appeared to be getting along nicely." The other witnesses testified to being at the dance and seeing either Kopitzke or Hoffman before or after their deaths.

An effort was made by the state this morning to introduce evidence given by Riske at the coroner's inquest into the deaths of Hoffman and Kopitzke at New London on July 6. Judge Park ruled, however, that the testimony could not be admitted at this time. He did not indicate whether it would be permitted later, or not.

Picks up Bottles

Nate Lozier, Northport, dance hall inspector, was the first witness in the afternoon. Lozier, testified he was present at the Douglas farm the night Kopitzke and Hoffman were murdered and that he had been instructed by Under-Sheriff James Hanson to pick up bottles. He said he found one beer bottle and one half pint whisky bottle in the Douglas truck and picked up six or eight other bottles and put them in the truck, leaving a note that he had done so, since it was before the Douglas family was up about 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. Cross examination by McHenry revealed that Lozier had picked up more than one half pint bottle.

Harold Douglas, owner of the farm where the barn dance was held on the night of June 20, Lozier's testimony regarding the substantiated bottles and he stated he had turned all the bottles over to Sheriff Arthur Steenbock, and that one of the bottles was about half full and others contained little or no liquor.

Sheriff Arthur Steenbock, who was on duty the night of June 20, when the call came from the Douglas farm, sent Under-Sheriff Hanson out first and followed later. He said eight whisky bottles and one beer bottle were picked up on the dance premises and sent to the state laboratory for an analysis which showed that the whisky residue in one of the bottles contained strychnine. Only one of the bottles contained any quantity of liquor, but that one had no poison.

Finds Strychnine

William Powell, assistant state toxicologist, who analyzed the contents of the bottles, said the half-pint bottle, which was presented as Exhibit B, contained a small quantity of whisky in which was dissolved about 11 milligrams of strychnine.

Mr. Powell stated that he had been instructed to look for strychnine and that it's presence could be determined, even if he only had two drops of the liquid to work with.

R. P. Herrick, state toxicologist, explained that the poison would be uniformly distributed throughout the contents of the bottle, so that everybody partaking would be uniformly affected. He introduced vials containing different quantities of strychnine in different forms. He stated that, in his opinion, the half-pint bottle of whiskey had contained 1.53 grams of strychnine in solution in the alcohol and 3.23 grams of strychnine in solution in the water of the whiskey.

Strychnine is absorbed from the stomach into the general blood stream, causing a generalized tetanus, followed by paralysis of the intercostal muscles and other respiratory muscles.

Mr. Herrick also identified some chewing gum and cigarettes which had been analyzed and found to contain no poison.

Analyze Gum

Under-Sheriff James O. Hanson testified he had taken the gum and cigarettes from Kopitzke's pockets and one stick of gum from Hoffman's pockets after their deaths.

This completed the testimony of the state moving the existence of the poison liquor.

Catherine Johnson, whose home is four miles east of Clintonville, said she had been employed at the Hamilton plant in New London and during that time she lived at the Forest Poppe home. She said she had frequently accompanied the crowd to dances at Bear Lake, at the Pomeroy and Douglas farms. On the night of the fatal party, Kopitzke went to the Poppe home soon after supper and they had waited until Hoffman was through work at 9:30 when they went over to his house, arriving about the same time as he did. They waited while he washed up and then the party drove to the

Garner Has Good Chance Of Election To Speakership

Washington — (AP) — The possibility that the late Nicholas Longworth will be succeeded as house speaker by his lifetime friend and political enemy, Representative John N. Garner of Texas today is far from remote.

With the Democrats holding a scant majority in the house as a result of yesterday's congressional elections, the odds pointing to the choice of the rugged statesman from the Texas plains became more meaningful. Garner is the Democratic choice for the speakership and he has virtually the unanimous support of his party members.

Garner will become 63 years old Nov. 22, and is now entering his fifteenth term. During his long period of service he has been one of the most colorful members in the house.

Although at times he suffered in a political way because of his vehemence and display of his independence character, he has been well content with his powerful position on the ways and means committee and the party leadership.

Jokingly last March when he had a longwinded goodbye to the last time he told him he would return this fall to take the speakership away from him. He did not know that the speaker was to live but another month.

Garner came to the house in the 58th congress, at the same time as did Longworth. The Ohioan was defeated once, in the Democratic landslide of 1912, but returned in the next congress. They served on the same committee, fought each other on national issues and party policies and principles. Each respected the other's keenness and strategy, although they arrived at conclusions by far different means.

Garner has displayed uncanny intuition on puzzling matters, by being able to arrive at the crux of the situation immediately. Longworth weighed and reasoned things out.

In debate the Texan has a fiery tongue. As a leader of the minority in the last house he won some notable tilts over the huge Republican majority. He is recognized as an expert on tariffs and taxes.

sick but drunk. After the men were dead, Poppe and Ed Riske had gone after an undertaker in Riske's car and had telephoned from Stillman's. Poppe said he had searched Riske's car very thoroughly for liquor, but found nothing.

Drops Kopitzke Charge

Asked by defense attorneys as to how many times he had been interviewed by the sheriff, Judge Park ruled the question out of order because it is the sheriff's duty to "interview innumerable people innumerable times, and he assumed the sheriff had done his duty."

After Poppe's testimony had been completed, the judge ordered the court room cleared of spectators and then read the charge to the jury and the attorneys. Calling attention to the fact that Riske was charged with killing two men, Judge Park ruled that Riske could be tried for only one murder at a time and therefore he was striking the name of Henry Kopitzke from the charge.

OLD HOTEL GIVES UP HUGE FORTUNE IN CASH, JEWELS

Woman Who Hid Wealth Has Been Placed Under Care of Psychiatrists

BY GENE COHN
New York—America's most fantastic treasure hunt, which already has uncovered a trove of more than a million in cash and gems, must be guided henceforth by psychiatrists seeking to interpret the inarticulate mutterings of a 95-year-old recluse. Unlike the treasure caches of fiction and history, there is no map and no uncharted island in some far-away sea.

Instead an old hotel gives up the hidden wealth of Ida E. Wood, eccentric old mistress of millions. Almost a million in cash, and trunks laden with gems and rare relics have thus far rewarded the searchers, who have been acting for relatives squabbling over the matter of the old lady's guardianship.

And now arises the question: where in the great city of New York may further fortunes be tucked under the stuffings of innocent looking sofas or sewed away in mattresses?

Other Millions Unfound?
For the alienists called in to attend Mrs. Wood, whose eccentricities took a strangely miserly form, report that she keeps babbling about other millions—but hidden where?

Somewhere, too, is a hidden will, said to account for vastly greater sums than have already been uncovered.

But where is this will? Can the psychiatrists pry the secret from a fading, rambling mind? Each question rising from this strange case brings a more eerie aspect. It has developed, for instance that relatives have had two private detectives keeping constant guard over the Herald Square hotel where the aged recluse made her home. For an entire year they have stationed themselves outside the door watching her every movement.

Insofar as Mrs. Wood was concerned, the hotel people looked upon her as another survival of the mauve decade spending her last years in the quiet seclusion of her room. Then, suddenly, a nephew appeared in the New York courts asking for the appointment of guardian. It was said that she had a great fortune hidden about her person and her room. Other kin appeared with conflicting claims to the guardianship. And then the fantastic fortune hunt began.

It's Problem for Courts
Sure enough, she had $800,000 in cash and gems that included bracelets worn back in the nineties at the Infanta Eulalia ball in old Madison Square Garden. The remainder of the fortune has yet to be found, and the courts must yet decide upon the claims of various relatives.

Not since the Wendel sisters dwelt mysteriously in the heart of Fifth Avenue has Manhattan been so intrigued by the eccentricities of one of its oldest generation.

Historically speaking Hetty Green was, perhaps, most famous of all the hoarders of millions. She lived in hall bedrooms in every outward evidence of poverty. Her, however, was a woman of finance who made great men jump at the snap of her whip. Whatever her reputation for rickety-squeezing, her shrewdness in business matters will remain historic.

The Wendels lived for generations in an atmosphere of lavender and old lace. A great city grew up about them, but they did not change their ways. Oil lamps and gas were to be seen in the shadow of Fifth Avenue skyscrapers. They seldom appeared in public would have nothing to do with motors and almost never visited the big shops, that were just next door to their residence.

Legendary Family
One by one they died in the half-lighted memorial to an old-time elegance. Legends grew up around them—and, finally, there was none left but Miss Ella, who died about a year ago.

Today a dozen claimants to the Wendel millions appear in every section of the land, and for years court battles will rage over the various claims to kinship. Many relatives of the Woods also are preparing to enter claims.

Just how many city eremites are to be found behind the doors of old hotels and residences is conjectural. But there are said to be dozens, still inhaling the faint perfumes of another day.

Meanwhile Mrs. Wood provides as strange a hidden treasure mystery as Manhattan has ever known. And those experts who follow the strange vagaries of the mind hope to pry from her the secret to the amazing cache.

MORE PLAYING CARDS PRODUCED IN STATE

Wisconsin Approaches Records of Ohio and New Jersey

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Evidence that Wisconsin is overtaking Ohio and New Jersey in the production of playing cards is revealed in the playing card stamp tax returns for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1931.

Wisconsin manufacturers of playing cards paid the government $140,010 in stamp taxes during July, August and September of this year, as compared to $52,426.39 during the same months last year.

This was exceeded only by the stamp taxes paid by Ohio and New Jersey on playing cards. Payments in both these states decreased during the September 1931, quarter while Wisconsin increased.

Most of Wisconsin's playing cards are manufactured at Racine. The stamp tax on playing cards constituted the largest stamp tax paid in the state, stamp taxes on bonds of indebtedness, capital stock issues and so forth amounting to only $13,533.34 during July, August and September this year, as compared to $27,386.80 last year.

Wisconsin paid $214 stamp taxes on capital stock sales or transfers during the September quarter of this year, as compared with $182.85 last year during the same period but the stamp tax on sales of produce for future delivery in the state dropped from $1,465.17 to $688.16.

HOUSE CONTROL IS CAPTURED BY DEMOCRATS

West in Michigan G. O. P. District Gives Edge to Rival Party

Baby Laffoon Democrat, were opposed will not be known until after the counting of ballots which begins today.

Local elections were held in several other states but aroused little interest outside the communities affected.

REVOLT IN MICHIGAN

Washington (AP) — Democratic push, begun last November, attaining greater proportions in yesterday's elections to virtually shove the party into control of the next house of representatives and reclaim the governorship of New Jersey.

The revolt of District 8 in Michigan, abandoning Republicanism for the first time since 1898, gave the Democrats a house majority of one and with it the best chance for control in 13 years.

Both there and in the New Jersey gubernatorial race, the Democratic candidates went to the polls in search of a rebuke to the national Republican administration.

Another strategic position, the first Ohio congressional district represented so long by the late Nicholas Longworth, remained in the Republican column by a substantial vote after a campaign fought on local issues.

In New York, where the controversy of Gov. Franklin Roosevelt and the former governor and presidential nominee, Al Smith, attracted nationwide interest because of the personalities involved, the former won a sweeping victory. The dispute centered upon a Roosevelt-sponsored amendment to the state constitution providing for public reforestation.

Over the elections hung the ominous shadow of prohibition, and the opposition went the fruits. Each of the five new congressmen elected in the day's voting—three Democratic and two Republican—travel under the standard of either the repealists or the modificationists.

In three years, the wet bloc in the house has grown from less than 70 members to about 150 now.

Unless the congressional situation changes again in the short time between now and the first Monday in December, when matters start upon Capitol Hill, it practically assures that President Hoover will have during the remainder of his term a politically hostile house.

Garner May Be Speaker

Also, it foreshadows the election of a speaker of Representative Garner of Texas, and designation of Southern Democrats to chairmanships of many powerful committees.

Turnover of this organization at the same time would give the Democrats benefit of the tradition they have quoted so often, that a shift of power in congress in an off-year is prophetic of a change of administrations.

The lineup now is Democrats 217; Republicans 215; Farmer-Laborites none; Vacancies 2.

One vacancy, in the Fifth New Jersey district traditionally Republican, is to be filled before congress convenes, but the other—New Hampshire—will remain vacant until January.

The Democrats in more ways than one are in a far better position to organize the house than the Republicans. They can present a united front on their speaker candidate in Garner, as the veteran legislator has no opponent in his party.

On the contrary the Republicans have been engaged in a quiet but fierce struggle over the selection of a speakership nominee to succeed the late Speaker Longworth. In addition, a group of independent is clamoring for more recognition and are using as a means to obtain it a threat of bolting the party on organization.

Like in the Republican party, there are a number of Democrats who fear that Democratic house control in this congress would be a disadvantage in the 1932 presidential elections. On the other hand most of them feel that they should accept the responsibility for enacting needed legislation, despite a hostile administration and the lack of a working majority needed to force through legislation.

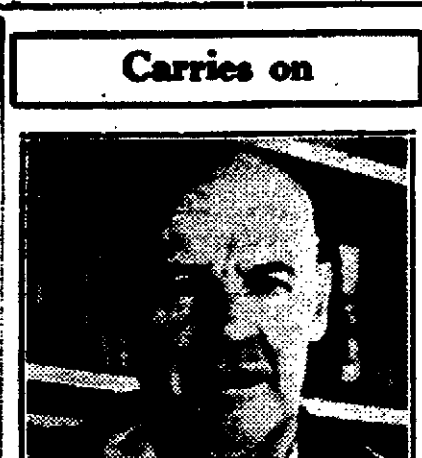

Hope for Control

The Democrats have carefully prepared plans to end the Republican control of 13 years standing. They hope to obtain the vote of the one Farmer-Laborite, Representative Kvale of Minnesota, and to ask two election contestants in the Eighth Illinois district to stand aside when the house is organized.

In the contest, a recount of the ballots showed that Stanley H. Kvale, the only Democrat apparently defeated for reelection, in the 1930 elections, actually had a majority over Peter C. Granata, Republican. Granata has a certificate of election, but the Democrats can force him to delay being seated until after organization. The contest will be decided later by the house.

Political quarters studied the election returns today with thoughts of the coming presidential campaigns to the fore. Democrats were glad by the great New Jersey governorship plurality giving them the upper-hand in 26 state administrations now. They hoped the counting of votes in Kentucky today would make it 27.

The Democrats failed, however, to one coveted ambition to seize control of the New York assembly.

BEAT MANAGER FORM

Cleveland (AP) — Cleveland, the largest city in the United States to adopt the city manager form of government appeared today to have gone back to the old federal system—with a mayor and city council elected by wards.

The city was the pioneer in the never form of government, but during the eight years since the city manager plan was in effect, it was under almost incessant attack. There was either a campaign in progress or being planned to abolish it.

Incomplete returns from more than half the city's precincts indicated that the amendment to the charter, drawn up by Saul S. Danaceau, attorney and persistent foe of the manager plan, would be adopted by a majority of between 6,000 and 8,000 votes.

Next Saturday, if the Danaceau amendment is adopted, Daniel E. Morgan, present city manager, will step out of office and permit his law director, Harold H. Burton, to become acting mayor until an election is held in February.

William R. Hopkins, former city manager, and a Republican, is expected to run for mayor, probably as an independent candidate. He was ousted from his office by the regular organization a year and a half ago.

Morgan's temporary appearance was elected to the city council in a campaign based on opposition to Maurice Maschke, Republican leader who helped him get a start politically. The fight between Maschke and Hopkins became so bitter that it overshadowed the city manager controversy.

MURPHY EASY WINNER

Detroit (AP) — Duplicating the runaway race he made in the primary a month ago, Mayor Frank Murphy who campaigned as a friend of the unemployed, was reelected in yesterday's non-partisan municipal election by one of the greatest majorities ever given a Detroit mayoralty candidate.

With a but 25 per cent of the city's 385 precincts reported, Murphy polled 159,944 votes to $3,301 for his opponent, Harold H. Emmons, former police commissioner.

The voters were not so friendly toward the present nine-man council, and reelected only three members. Among the new councilmen will be Frank Couzens, son of Senator Couzens, and former Mayors John C. Lodge and John W. Smith.

Murphy, a former recorder's court judge, was elected 14 months ago after Charles Bowles was recalled from the office. During his administration approximately $20,000,000 had been paid out in municipal debts to the unemployed. Emmons criticized this and also mentioned during his campaign that, although the race was without party emblems, he is a Republican and Murphy is a Democrat.

Realistic Toys Are Being Demanded Of Santa Claus

New York (AP) — Santa's hair is growing whiter and the wrinkles in his jovial brow deeper and he and his millions of workmen labor to make the cry of a baby doll, the growl of a teddy bear and the mechanics of a play train more realistic for this year's crop of Christmas children.

The little lead soldiers that marched to a make-believe war, the China doll and the wooden trains of a generation ago won't do. Modern youngsters want airplanes that fly, dolls that feel and look and talk like humans, electrically operated playthings and complicated, constructive toys that set the adult brain awhirl.

Science and psychology have played a large part in the manufacture of modern toys. The results accomplished have been fascinating. Philip L. Kirkham, vice president of one of Manhattan's largest toy concerns explained Wednesday.

Some of the most interesting toys this year are actually doses of education "sugar-coated" with gay paint and realism in design, he said. Our children would be bored with the toys that used to delight us. Little girls used to dream of wax dolls and little boys begged for slazy cotton Indian suits. Today they want the real thing. Dolls with a skin as soft as a rose petal and costumes of leather with real Indian feathers.

Boys still like to play soldier, pirate and cowboy. Girls still like to play house, mother their dolls, and teach school, Mr. Phillips said.

They only want these playthings more like the life around them. More than 200 new toys have been created this year, and this season's toy business will be better than last year's, he said.

Already eager children are gazing wide-eyed and wistfully at the toys on display. Johnny is thinking up his letter to Santa wishing for a model roadster with balloon tires, the boy-sized sailboat, and electrically run boat. He wants an airplane in which he can sit and run the propeller and roll over the sidewalk as if he were flying.

Betty would adore the doll house in which she can walk about. The kitchen and bath are equipped with the latest in modern plumbing. She would love to give her smaller dolls a real shower in the beautiful new tile tubs with shower equipment. And dolly's wardrobe will need replenishing. There are leather aviation togs, fur coats, umbrellas, kid gloves, rubber overshoes, kid purses, forgeries and even eye glasses.

The stork brought two new baby dolls this year. One has a rubber body shaped so realistically one could almost count on its growing up to be a little lady like its mother. The other is just big enough to tuck in tiny arms. The newest doll has a skin wig and an elfish face.

There are drug stores, delicatessens, school rooms, racing stables, garages and farms all big enough to look real to little men and women. A musical clock with a little blacksmith hammering away the minutes, a cookie plate that tinkles a pleasant tune, and a lullaby-playing pillow for sleepy heads, are other new devices to intrigue and delight good little boys and girls who still believe in Santa Claus.

It Is Said--

That the ground may be covered with brown leaves, and the trees may be almost bare, but Mrs. Charles W. Schartau, picked a blossom off a bridal wreath in her yard Sunday, and a dish of red raspberries from her garden Monday. Mrs. Schartau lives at 715 N. Bateman-st.

That the worryings of the board of review used to be confined to the council chambers, the six board members, and the protestors. This year the whole city hall revolves around the board of review. With the mayor, the city clerk, and six aldermen constantly on duty in the committee room, city hall and city business must shift this way and that to fit into the moments when there are no hearings.

DOCTOR RETURNS FROM MEDICAL GATHERING

Dr. J. B. MacLaren has returned from the east, where he attended the annual session of the American College of Surgeons. Industrial surgery and cancer were the main topics of discussion at the conference, held in New York, and one of the most far-reaching developments of the gathering was the standardization of methods of fracture treatment.

After attending the convention, Dr. MacLaren spent some time in Buffalo and Canada.

TATTOOED POULTRY EXPECTED TO HELP PUT CURB ON THEFTS

Minneapolis (AP) — Barnyard gossip that Mr. Turkey Gobbler and Old Man Rooster have gone in for numerology—and tattooing—was borne out today by the Farmers Protective association.

So barnyards now will be graced with the tattooed rooster and the tattooed turkey.

The idea is to prevent theft of poultry by tattooing numerals under the wings of fowls then registering the numbers with all poultry buyers and sheriffs in the state.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS CALLED OUT 4 TIMES

The fire department was called out four times in an hour and 20 minutes last night between 6:50 and 8:10. In no case was serious damage caused. The first call was to the tin shop of the Schaefer Hardware company at 501 N. Bates-st, where a far kettle caught fire. At 7:30 the department was called to a dump fire at 616 N. Division-st. This blaze was fought for three quarters of an hour by one of the companies. At 7:50 another company was called to the Schafer Grocery, 602 W. College-ave, when smoke escaping from a hot air flue led to the belief that a fire had started in the basement. At 8:10 the department was called to 216 W. Commercial-st where a car owned by Elmer Lemke caught fire from a short circuit.

Miss Mary Perry, Shawano, is in St. Elizabeth hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

BOND CHANGES OF FOUNDATION NOT FREQUENT

Some Funds Are of "Coir- ageous Dollar" but Others Show Loss Now

BY JOHN A. CRONE
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press

New York—(CPA)—Offsetting each sale of stocks and bonds, nowadays officially referred to in Wall Street as a "transaction," must be a purchase of such securities.

Naturally during declining markets the public is curious about the sources of buying as well as the sources of selling. How do the rich investors and institutions use their funds during depressions? How do such investors fare with their commitments?

These two queries can be partially answered by the Rockefeller foundation report for 1930, which showed total investments of $193,075,428, of which $80,875,557 was in bonds and $112,804,997 in stocks. The bond investments represented a gain of $16,432,931, while the purchases in 1929 while stocks purchased, common and preferred, showed a decline of $165,336.

Superficially the preponderant purchases of bonds might indicate that the dollars of the so-called "rich" were more timid than courageous, but before such conclusions are drawn the character of the bonds and stocks bought and the legal limitations on such investments, would have to be known.

No Bond Changes
Contrasted with 1929, the Rockefeller foundation's bond list, aside from issues maturing in 1930, shows no changes, while the additions include such conservative issues (normally) as $1,059,000 Great Northern Railway general mortgage 7's of 1936, an increase of $1,008,000 in Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway first and refunding 4's of 1931, and a further gain of $2,500,000 of United States fourth liberty loan 4's of 1933-1935.

The biggest single block of bonds held, $13,827,000 of Standard Oil of New Jersey 20-year 5 per cent debentures, is carried at 100.5 or their original offering price in 1926. Important additions to utility bond holdings, which show a large increase, include: $1,685,000 Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation 3-year notes; $1,038,000 Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston 2-year 5 per cent notes; $394,000 United Light and Railway Co. of Maine 5's of 1932; $210,000 American Water Works collateral 5's of 1934; and $148,000 Detroit Edison 5's of 1933.

In the oil bond additions are $863,000 Humble Oil 5-4's of 1932; $454,000 Marland Oil 5 per cent notes due in 1932; $68,000 Magnolia Petroleum serial 4-1's due 1932 to 1935; $104,000 Standard Oil of New York Serial debenture 4-1's, all due by 1937; and $235,000 Union Oil of California 5's of 1935.

Short Term Purchases
All of which suggests a rather large lot of short-term purchases, which are usually made by the most conservative investors during periods when the financial skies appear obscured.

The principal holdings of Standard Oil stocks and those of allied companies were retained during 1930. The largest single holding was 1,077,005 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey common, carried at $1,926,491 a share or $37,508,208.80. This recalls that John D. Rockefeller placed a bid for 1,000,000 shares of this stock at 50 on Nov. 13, 1929, but of course the block listed here has been held for some time.

A block of $1,785,200 (per amount) of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad convertible adjustment mortgages is being carried at $625 a bond or $1,115,750, whereas they are selling today at $140, after deducting their interest, or $156,278. The $2,096,000 (per amount) of St. Louis Southwestern Railway first consolidated 4's of June, 1932, which were purchased at 69.47781 or around $690 a bond ($1000 par), may be had today at about the same price, though they have sold as low as 60.

The $227,500 (per amount) Seaboard Air Line Railway first and consolidated 6's of 1945 were acquired at about 49 or $490 per bond, but stand at 7-3 today. The $3,820,000 (per amount) of United States Rubber first and refunding mortgage 5's of 1947 were acquired around 85, but could be bought today at 53-1.

Some of the bonds cited above indicate that at least some funds were of the "courageous dollar" type, but in some of these transactions the Rockefeller foundation, if it had to sell at today's market value—would of course it does not—is little better off than many small investors.

SCHLAFFER'S AUTO LICENSE HAS SAME NUMBER AS PHONE

Switching his collecting hobby from stamps to automobile licenses, Wilmer Schlafer has collected one of the state's first 1932 licenses. His new license plates, received yesterday, were mailed out with the first batch of this year's plates.

In addition to receiving one of the first plates, Mr. Schlafer got the number he asked for, 133, which also is his telephone number.

START ERECTING FENCE ALONG COUNTY ROADS

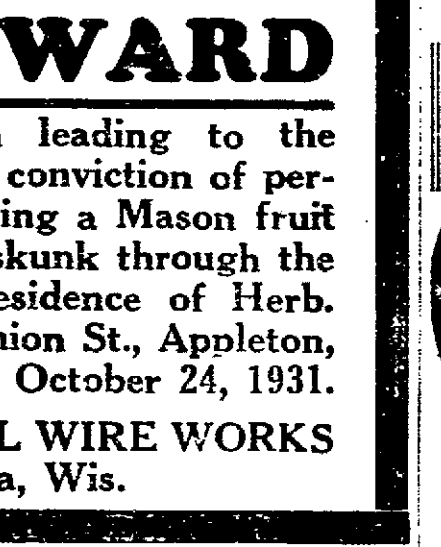

Erection of snow fence on county roads was started this week by a crew of six workmen from the county highway department, according to F. H. Appleton, highway commissioner. A second crew will start the same task next week when it completes erection of a small bridge on County Trunk Z in the town of Buchanan. The two crews will be at work for about two weeks to complete setting up the 24 miles of snow fence which the county owns. Approximately five miles of new fence was purchased by the highway department this year.

HOT STUFF

Seattle, Wash. — Police, two of them, overheard a telephone conversation in a downtown hotel. The gentleman calling was ordering a "quart" sent up to his room. Both police lined up outside the room of the caller and, when the messenger came with the package, they demanded a look at it, thinking it was liquor. It turned out to be hot stuff, all right. It was chili con carne.

FROM DIAMONDS AND IVORY TO POVERTY

Memphis, Tenn.—There was a time when J. J. Thompson was a wealthy diamond miner and ivory trader in South Africa. Now he is penniless and is seeking a home for two thoughtless bull terriers that he obtained from the kennels of the Prince of Wales.

Thompson was born in Chattanooga and grew up in Texas. His parents were murdered by Mexican bandits in the Villa episode, and he turned a soldier of fortune, winding up in South Africa as an engineer in a gold mine. Then he traded in diamonds and ivory, and made a fortune. He returned to civilization in 1927, started playing the markets, and is now penniless as a result.

He's offering his dogs to anyone who'll give them a good home.

"CANNIBALISM" CAUSES MANY POULTRY DEATHS

Experts Discuss Trouble and Its Remedies; Remove Wounded Birds

Oconto—Inquiries about the cause of fatalities in poultry flocks in three counties reveals that "cannibalism" is one of the leading factors. Poultrymen are advised by experts to remove offenders and victims from the flocks at once and to paint the wounds with pine tar.

County Agent J. I. Ehrhard said cannibalism in flocks developed from toe picking by chicks and overcrowding of older birds. Each pullet or hen should have an average of four square feet of floor space in the coop and should be kept busy throughout the day with cabbage or roots suspended with other feed in the litter. He agreed that the wounded birds and the offenders should be removed at once from the coop. He also recommended painting the wounds with pine tar. His main and most reliable cure for cannibalism is cutting the upper half of the beak of the cannibals back to the quick or bleeding point with a knife. This treatment prevents the cannibals from reaching the feathers or flesh of other birds. After some practice, a poultry owner may trim the beaks of 250 birds in an hour. This treatment will stop cannibalism according to the county agent.

Expert Tells Cause

To add additional weight to his proposed cure for cannibalism in flocks, Mr. Ehrhard quoted Dr. D. C. Kennard of Ohio Agricultural station as follows:

"Just now poultry keepers are confronted with a surprising prevalence of cannibalism and feather-picking in various forms. The situation is so acute that as you go about among poultrymen this is the first subject they begin to talk about."

"I am inclined to think that cannibalism and feather-eating are generally to be regarded as a vice or bad habit, rather than a condition arising from the ration. I further believe that overcrowding is most often responsible for such vice. But in the case of layers, in addition to overcrowding and the other possible causes we have prolapsus of the oviduct as a frequent cause or forerunner of cannibalism. One case of prolapsus of oviduct may give rise to an epidemic of cannibalism which if not checked at once may result in large numbers of pickouts."

"In a group of 33 White Leghorns pullets last April, one was observed picking feathers very skillfully. She could pluck from two to four feathers at a time, and other pullets would come to her to share her spoils. Observation indicated that one bird did all the plucking. Accordingly the beak of the offender was tipped, which rendered her harmless. The tipping of the beak of the one principal offender proved permanently effective in this instance, and more than likely prevented a serious outbreak."

In a flock of 44 White Leghorns pullets last February, one of the birds with prolapsus of oviduct was attacked and nearly killed before the victim was discovered and removed. This proved only the beginning of more serious trouble. A taste for fresh blood, and the craving for more, led the pullets to attack other birds with normal vents. As a result, two hours later the birds were found in great commotion attacking each other, and three had bleeding vents."

"Two pullets that seemed to be the ringleaders were caught and their beaks were tipped. The operation rendered them harmless for further attacks."

To perform the beak tipping operation, a cut is made in the edge of the upper beak about one-eighth of an inch deep and from one-eighth to three-sixteenths of an inch long from the tip, depending on the size of the beak and length of tip. Then by prying and pulling with the flat side of knife, the point of beak is removed by tearing and not by cutting. The small cut serves only to get a hold and start the tearing. By tearing the beak, it can be removed much closer to the "quick" without bleeding; and it is much easier than paring even with a razor-edged knife.

PLAN TO ADVERTISE STATE ATTRACTIONS

Madison—(P)—An outline for a campaign to advertise Wisconsin's attractions to tourists, especially those attending the 1933 World's Fair at Chicago, will be presented to the public at a meeting here Nov. 16, it was announced today by Ralph W. Mapps, of Green Lake.

At a recent meeting of the Wisconsin State Hotel association at Milwaukee, a committee was organized to formulate plans for the promotion of Wisconsin's industrial, recreational and agricultural advantages and the committee will report at the Madison meeting, Mr. Mapps, who is president of the organization, said.

Since the meeting here will precede by one day the annual convention of the State Chamber of Commerce in Milwaukee, Mr. Mapps said it is hoped many members of the latter organization will attend the meeting. The advertisement of the state is on the agenda of the commerce group.

"We had hoped that the state government itself," Mr. Mapps said, "would inaugurate this movement by appropriating funds for state advertising, as is now being done by the adjoining states of Michigan and Minnesota. The defeat of bills for the appropriation of such funds at each of the last two sessions of the Wisconsin legislature brings us to the conclusion that some private organization must lead the way in this work."

GIRL SCOUTS OUTLINE ACTIVITIES FOR YEAR

Girl scout leaders organized plans for the year at the regular Leaders' association meeting at the Appleton Woman's club Monday night.

Court of awards will be held in the spring. Work will begin immediately on Christmas programs to be given by the Appleton scouts in various places in the city. Tentative plans have been made for a Thanksgiving entertainment, the benefits of which will go to the poor.

Girl scouts will have charge of the December meeting program of the Appleton Woman's club, the organization which is sponsoring the girl scout movement in Appleton. Miss Dorothy Calm, local director, is in charge of the Woman's club program. Reports on girl scout week activities were given by the various leaders in charge of the several daily programs.

PILLAGER INDIANS SEEKING DAMAGES

Base Claim on Refusal of Menominees to Leave Wisconsin

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Because Wisconsin Menominee Indians would not move from the Badger state to Minnesota in 1847, the Pillager Indians of the Minnesota Chippewas have just filed a claim with the United States Court of Appeals for $3,350,000 damages against Uncle Sam.

The claim of the Pillager Indians is based on a treaty of 1847, and the amount of the claim, on the estimated $854,000 valuation of lands taken by the government in violation of the treaty, plus 5 per cent interest from Aug. 21, 1847.

The treaty provides for the transfer of about 700,000 acres of rich Minnesota farm land, owned by the Pillager Indians to the government for merchandise amounting to about $11,000. The understanding was that this land was to be settled by the Menominee tribe which was to move from its Wisconsin land to make way for white settlers.

The purpose of the Menominee transfer to this particular Minnesota land was to provide a buffer or neutral settlement between the Sioux and Chippewa nations, then constantly at war. The Menominees were friendly to both tribes and the Pillagers' ceded land lay just between the Sioux and Chippewa territories.

Although the land was to be sold to Uncle Sam for the merchandise sales price of blankets, cloth, twine, thread, needles, mirrors, tobacco, salt, traps and guns, the Pillager Indians were to be allowed continued access to it.

However, the Menominees refused to move from their Wisconsin home and the government retroceded to them 12 townships of Badger lands worth $387,000 and paid them $242,686 in cash for retroceding to the government the Pillager tract in Minnesota which they might have claimed.

Then contrary to the provisions of the 1847 treaty, according to the claim petition, the government, without consulting the Pillagers, opened their 700,000 acre tract to white settlement and no longer held it as "Indian land."

The claim allows $11,000 for the cost of merchandise paid the Pillagers and states that they have been damaged to the extent of $3,350,000 through the loss of their lands in violation of the treaty. Apparently the Menominees started quite a fuss just by staying home.

Last summer Oney Johnson post team was second in a state shoot.

TEACHER DISCUSSES GERMAN CONDITIONS

In his discussion of German conditions, Clare Marquette, history teacher at Appleton high school, urged German club students to observe the present economic and political conditions in the country for evidences of new socialist experiments. Mr. Marquette was the special speaker at the club meeting Monday afternoon at the high school.

He opened his talk with a discussion of the political background of the country and described the lives of the two German political leaders, president von Hindenburg and Chancellor Brüning. He gave the political principles of these two men and discussed their lives.

Mr. Marquette is the first of a series of outside speakers who will address the club.

BRITISH BEER INCOME TOTALS $340,000,000

Drinkers Pay Approximately One-Fifth of Money in Treasury

BY MILTON BRONNER

London—The great army of British beer drinkers, plus those who prefer stronger beverages, pay approximately one-fifth of all the money received in John Bull's treasury.

Beer consumers enriched the government by $340,000,000 during the last financial year, while imbibers of whisky, wine, gin and other liquors paid nearly $200,000,000 more.

The total income of the government in taxes on liquor manufactured in Great Britain and the license fees paid by brewers, distillers and saloonkeepers was $550,000,000. This is in addition to $31,000,000 received in customs duties on imported spirits, beer and wine and the ingredients used in their manufacture.

In other words, 15 per cent of all the money that the treasury receives comes from the drink trade, exclusive of the income tax levied upon distillers, brewers and their shareholders and upon the keepers of "pubs," as saloons are called.

British brewers claim that 617,000 persons are directly employed as a result of the drink trade. No estimate has ever been made in the amount paid out in wages.

Income Taxes Highest
Great Britain exacts the highest income taxes in the world and if it were not for the taxes levied on the drink trade present income taxes doubtless would be higher.

So no one was surprised when Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, faced with difficulty in making the ends of the budget meet, recently announced an additional tax of 31 shillings per standard barrel of beer, making the total tax 134 shillings. This worked out at an increase of two cents per pint served over the counter and the tax was at once passed on to the consumer. This is expected to add about $18,600,000 more to the treasury's income, using the old valuation of the pound sterling.

Whisky, gins, wines and cider were not taxed heavier, probably because Snowden thought whisky was being taxed all the traffic would bear. A bottle of whisky costs $3.12 of which $2 goes to the government.

Is Second Beer Nation
The huge amount obtained from the beer tax in the past year was levied on a production of domestic beer just short of 25,000,000 barrels. Britain thus takes the second rank among beer-drinking countries of the world.

Germany led all the world with nearly twice as much as Britain. And here is a surprise. France, supposed to be a wine-drinking country pre-eminent, is third with beer. Tiny Belgium is fourth, while Czechoslovakia, famed for its Pilsen, comes only fifth.

The British nation's drink bill last year was estimated at 238 million pounds sterling, or well over $1,300,000,000. Profits of brewers were estimated at $120,000,000 but of course they are subject to the very high income tax.

The drink trade often declares that if the country should go dry, it would seriously cripple the agriculture industry, already badly hit. For centuries there have been farmers who from generation to generation have given all their time and energy to hop-raising. This is especially so in Kent, Hants, Surrey, Sussex, Hereford and Worcester counties.

Import Hops From U. S.
Last year the crop was 253,000 hundredweight. Great Britain accounts for more than one-fourth of the world consumption of hops. Of her own home-grown crop she used in brewing all but 22,302 hundredweight. On the other hand, she imported 44,490 hundredweight.

Oddly enough, more than 23,000 hundredweight came from the dry United States. American hops come mainly from California because British brewers have found that the prolonged sunshine gives the hops a higher content of necessary vegetable chemicals than is possessed by hops grown in rainier countries.

Another branch of agricultural industry which is largely dependent upon the drink trade is the barley crop. A million acres are given over to barley growing in Britain. A part of this is, of course, used for food and for medicinal malted products and malted foods, but the greater part is used by distillers in making whisky and the brewers in the form of barley malt. The brewers used about 10,000,000 hundredweight last year.

Of the 617,000 people that the brewers claim are employed as a result of the drink trade, 350,000 are workers in retail pubs. Also included in these figures are 112,000 employed in brewing, distilling, malting and bottling; 5000 in wholesale dealing; 35,000 in raising and gathering barley, and 14,000 in gathering and picking hops for the same trade.

OLD VETERAN SAW MONITOR, MERRIMAC IN HISTORIC FIGHT

Sam Collins, 91, Is Last Survivor of Battle That Scrapped Wooden Navies

New Orleans — Sam Collins, 91-year-old Civil War naval veteran, he knows he hasn't long to live, but doesn't give a hang.

For he has been in at least one real fight.

Today Collins is believed to be the last survivor of the U. S. Sloop-of-War Cumberland which was sent to the bottom by the Confederate Ironclad Merrimac after a terrific battle off Hampton Roads.

The day here that battle he saw the historic fight of the Monitor and the Merrimac. Wooden navies of the world were scrapped that day.

But now Collins is blind. Waiting at the home of his daughter here to answer his final "taps," the din of those two days of battle still rings in his ears.

He was just past 20 then. His heart pounded with pride when he was assigned to the Cumberland. She came racing in to Boston from a foreign cruise. There were 275 in the crew.

The Cumberland was armed with 22 nine-inch Dahlgren guns and two 10-inch pivot guns.

She got under weigh for Hampton Roads. The Yankee fleet was gathering near here. Three steam frigates, all wooden, were standing in the Minnesota, the Congress and the Roanoke. Each carried about 50 guns. The St. Lawrence, a sailing frigate, had 12 guns.

They were all waiting for the Merrimac. They had heard about her. She was a sunken Federal frigate that had been raised by the Confederates, cut down almost to the water level, and armed with railroad iron.

Collins, with the other sailors of the Cumberland, were just finishing potatoes and coffee when "general quarters" sounded on the bugle.

"Clear decks for action!" There, coming down from Norfolk, steamed the Merrimac. She headed straight for the Congress. When they were a quarter of a mile apart the Congress let go a broadside. The cannon balls glanced off the Merrimac like tennis balls off a roof.

Then the Merrimac opened fire. Her shells tore through the wooden bulkheads. Splinters flew. The Congress burst into flame.

The Merrimac kept blazing at the Congress. Then she headed for the Cumberland. The Cumberland gave her a broadside.

"We might just as well have lined the rails and spit at her," Collins said.

Stripped to the waist, the gunners worked like fury. Their guns were muzzle-loaders.

Then the Merrimac's shells started to hit the Cumberland. Shot smashed through the sides. Jagged splinters of oak flew. The Merrimac had closed in. The guns were firing almost muzzle to muzzle.

Suddenly the Merrimac drew away. Looked like she was retreating. But she backed away about an eighth of a mile and then, full steam ahead, came smashing into the Cumberland, crushing her in amidships.

Water rushed into the Cumberland. She sank fast. But the gunners kept hammering away at the ironclad. When the water hit the gun deck they fired their last salvo.

Then they seized cutlasses, boarding pikes and axes and rushed up the rail, hoping to board the Merrimac.

California Leading State In Beautifying Its Roads

Washington — Under the most trying circumstances, California is carrying out the most extensive highway beautification campaign of any state in the Union, according to a survey recently completed by the American Nature Association.

Because of the aridness of some parts of the state, it is necessary to carry water many miles in some instances to roadside plants and trees. Grass-covered shoulders are impossible in some parts of the state because of the intense heat, while trees, in other parts are always threatened by forest fires.

Yet in spite of these difficulties, California has begun roadside planting and, in fact, was one of the first states to recognize that the state highway department should take an interest in the roadside as well as the roadbed, the American Nature Association reports.

Miles of Trees
"Scattered here and there over the state, trees now add to the beauty and comfort of 700 miles of state highway. There are plantings even in the desert, notably the stretch south of Mojave. From Bakerfield to Gageville, across the hot plains, trees line the highway for 20 miles.

"Incidentally, 28 miles of pipe have been laid to bring water from the hills to these trees."

For the most part this work of beautification is done by civic groups, the state maintaining the planning if the civic group will pay for the trees and the first year's care, the association informs.

State Sells Trees
"Under the usual practice the city body pays from $2.25 to $2.50 a tree, the state department supplying the trees and undertaking both planting and maintenance," it is reported.

To a woman's club is credited the first tree planting by the state north of Los Angeles. It was a tree, the state department supplying the trees and undertaking both planting and maintenance, it is reported.

The advantage of tree-shaded highways was demonstrated by the California women at least 19 years before the state undertook the work.

RECALL ELECTION TO BE HELD AT KENOSHA

Kenosha — (AP)—The city council Monday night authorized a recall election at which Kenosha citizens will vote on the proposal to abolish the city manager form of government. The election will be held April 5 in connection with the general spring election.

A petition for the recall election submitted recently was not signed by sufficient voters. It was amended and last night held to be correct in form. The petition asks that Kenosha revert to the mayor-alderman form of government.

AMERICAN GIRL STICKS TO POST LONG AFTER WAR

Miss Genevieve Tyler Remains Member of Staff of Phare de France

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris — When General Gouraud, military governor of Paris, pinned the cross of the Legion of Honor on the breast of Miss Genevieve Tyler of Rochester, N. Y., he told her that the words Napoleon created with the order could be associated with her in their truest sense: "You have well merited this from the country."

Then as the grizzled, one-armed old soldier kissed her on the cheek, brave men formed in a large circle broke into applause. Some of them wept. They had never seen her, but they loved her as a guardian angel. They were men of France blinded in the war.

Her War "Bit"
Miss Tyler was conspicuously honored by the government for 12 years' service with the Phare de France, an institution for the blind, of which she is director. Banks of flowers in her headquarters from French and American friends testified to the appreciation of her unselfish devotion to the work.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mott Tyler, this American girl was educated at Sacred Heart Convent in Rochester. She came to France in 1919 with a fervent wish to give to a worthy war charity a period of service equal to the duration of the war. She looked upon this as her tribute to the sacrifice that men made in the war. Her heart went out to the blind heroes and she joined the staff of the Phare de France, an institution to which Americans have generously contributed. When the four years and three months, which she had set aside for her work, had expired, she found herself so interested in the cause that she decided to remain. Even now, after 12 years, she has no intention of quitting her post.

"Your great country has not only brave soldiers, we know, but very generous women. Like yourself," General Gouraud told her.

Tribute From the Heart
Deputy Thebaud, himself a blind veteran, presented Miss Tyler with a jeweled cross of the Legion as a Sightless veterans come to the Phare de France when no further hospital treatment is possible. Miss Tyler has tried for years to cheer them up, encouraging them to take an interest in life, and learn some useful occupation that would take their minds off their affliction. They have come to her, in a sense, as children, and their guidance requires infinite patience. Many of them would rather not struggle on, at first, but Miss Tyler has given them inspiration and courage.

BAKER SCHEDULED AS SPEAKER AT MEETING

Head of Music Department at College to Give Demonstration

Dr. Earl L. Baker, head of the department of public school music in Appleton and in Lawrence conservatory, will address the teachers of the Missouri Synod of Lutheran Schools of Wisconsin in Bethany church in Milwaukee, Nov. 6. These teachers represent one of the largest of the Lutheran groups, as there are approximately 120 day schools, 1,000 children, and 250 teachers in the Wisconsin section of the Missouri Synod.

The parochial schools of the state have realized the value of music as a part of the regular school curriculum and now desire assistance in organizing and budgeting their programs, in selecting music material, in establishing a uniform standard of work for each grade, and in studying modern methods of music teaching. Through demonstration and lecture Dr. Baker will show how the music may be planned for eight grades and how these plans may be successfully carried out. Recent study has shown character training to be an important element in the music program and the demonstration will show how this result may be achieved through the music lesson.

Dr. Baker will be assisted by a choir of 20 boys from the public and parochial schools of Appleton, and by Miss Kathryn Uglow, accompanist. The choir will sing the following program:

"How Can I Leave Thee," a folk song; "Just A-Wearyin' For You," by Bond; "Nut Brown Maiden," college song; "I Love You Truly," Bond; "Down in Mobile," southern song.

which fits into the program of the state chamber.

Other speakers who have been announced for the day sessions are Prof. Paul Haensel of Northwestern university, who speaks on "What Russia's Five Year Plan Means to the United States," and Charles F. Collisson, agricultural editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, who talks on "Agricultural Prosperity."

SCHNEIDER INVITED ON CANADIAN TOUR

United States Representatives to Study Sales Tax System

Congressman George J. Schneider of this district has been invited to take part in an expedition into Canada where a group of congressman and senators will make a study of a sales tax system which has been in force in that country for many years. Congressman Schneider Tuesday sent his regrets, pointing out that other engagements will make it impossible for him to attend.

In the invitation received by Mr. Schneider it was pointed out that the United States Treasury has announced that a limited sales tax is being considered as a possible means towards helping curtail the government's probable deficit.

Special trains, it said, will leave Washington Saturday, Nov. 14, and will pick up members at New York and other convenient places enroute to Montreal, where the party will spend a few days. It also is planned to make a short side trip to Ottawa and then to Quebec.

POSTPONE HIKE
The Girls' Athletic association hike to Kaukauna, planned for Thursday afternoon, has been postponed until Saturday. Miss Mamie Hall will lead this group. A second hike has been scheduled for Friday afternoon under Miss Phyllis Blaser. Hikers will leave for Neenah at 1:30 from N. State-st and W. College-ave.

SOVIET PAPER ACCUSES JAPS OF PROPAGANDA

Charges Militarists "Invented Fable" of Russian Interference

Moscow — (P) — The newspaper Izvestia charged today that Japanese militarists "invented the fable" of possible Soviet interference in Manchuria in order to cover plans for an extension of their own occupation northward "at least until Nov. 16" when the league of nations council meets again.

The militarists hoped, the newspaper said, "to weaken the resistance of other imperialistic powers by the prospect of a conflict with the Soviet Union, a conflict much desired in imperialist circles in Europe."

Declaring Japan's first explanation was that her occupation in Manchuria was made necessary by the threat of danger from Chang Sueh Liang's soldiers "who became bandits," Izvestia said:

"Such an argument proved quite insufficient, even in the eyes of the league of nations, and a new one was needed."

"The fable was then invented of a red danger in Manchuria through the interference of Soviet Russia, on the side of China, in the conflict with Japan and the provocative story of assistance rendered by the Soviets to the troops of the Chinese. General Mah was manufactured."

"Witnesses Mobilized"

"Witnesses were mobilized who 'saw with their own eyes' how Soviet military instructors, transports and arms were moved to the aid of General Mah."

"It is impossible the Japanese government could have believed these rumors because it has at its disposal organizations which could have proved their stupidity."

"Notwithstanding the declaration of Acting Commissioner for Foreign Affairs Karakhan, which let no doubt of the absurdity of the rumors, they were widely echoed in imperialistic circles and readily accepted and circulated in the press. Le Temps, at Paris, had the impudence to assert that 'Tokio knows well the value of a declaration of the Soviet government whose whole policy constitutes a continuous negation of the rights of civilized nations.'"

"Mr. Britten, a member of the American congress, showed phenomenal impudence by declaring: 'Russia is mobilizing vast military forces while the world is sitting on a volcano.'"

"The Japanese military clique which is preparing an extension of its occupation of Manchuria hoped it could succeed in weakening the resistance of other imperialist powers by the prospect of a conflict with the Soviet Union, a conflict much desired in imperialist circles in Europe."

"The position is quite clear. Instead of quitting Manchuria, the Japanese military clique is preparing an extension of the occupation toward the north. Seeking an argument to serve at least until Nov. 16 when the league returns to consideration of the Sino-Japanese conflict, they find one in the fable of Soviet interference and the slander about concentration of Russian troops on the Manchurian frontier."

"Let the western incendiaries continue their work. They will learn in time that who sows the wind will reap the whirlwind."

POEM WRITTEN BY MRS. CAL COOLIDGE IS SET TO MUSIC

Washington — (P) — Having set to music "The Quest," a poem by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Maury Madison is seeking the poems of other presidents' wives.

In the Library of Congress and among family friends and biographers, he hopes to unearth enough lyrics written by White House mistresses to make a booklet of song.

For Mrs. Hoover he has thus far found only three verse interpretations of the White House discarded pine rafters which she had carved into gifts. This, he said, would not be easy to set to music, but would make "a lovely little song."

Living wives of former presidents whom he hopes to interest in his scheme include: Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Thomas J. Erastion, who was Mrs. Grover Cleveland, and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison.

Madison brought to Washington another Grace Coolidge song "Watch Fires," which is religious in nature. It will be presented first in the church she attended, the First Congregational.

BURNS TELLS LIONS CLUB ABOUT EDISON

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—J. J. Burns, manager of the Edison World Products Co., addressed the Lions club at the weekly luncheon at the Kory Korner Tuesday noon. Mr. Burns, who knew Mr. Edison personally, spoke about the late inventor.

Mr. Burns enumerated some of the major inventions, such as the phonograph and electric lights, and related the story of the late Mr. Edison's revolutionizing of the cement industry. He touched upon the wide diversity of the interests of Mr. Edison, relating how his interest had involved changes in everything from medical gas to storage batteries, from carbonic acid to cement.

He said that the first water power sub station, owned by Edison and operated by men in his employ, was located in Appleton. His first fuel burning sub station, Mr. Burns said, was located in New York City.

In describing the close connection which Mr. Edison always kept with all branches of his business, Mr. Burns distributed notes written in long hand by the late inventor. This continual and deep interest which Mr. Edison showed in the small unit located in our midst bespoke the unusual caliber of the man, the speaker asserted.

Mr. Burns said he believed no more fitting tribute could be paid to Mr. Edison than that the new high school building, now in process of construction in this city, might in memorial bear the great inventor's name.

AMATEUR BOXERS IN MANY MATCHES

New London Fighters on Many Cards in Fox River Valley Cities

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—New London boxers are in the midst of a busy season. Friday night Herb Thompson meets Augie Stuber in the windup of the match at Green Bay. Lyle Drake of Waupaca takes on Leo Champeau of Green Bay in the semi-windup. In the 153 pound class Claude Sackett takes on a Green Bay boy, Van Ess.

Last night "Grosse" Wells took two of the fights at Wausau. Bill Shaw of Oshkosh fought Doc Holly of the twin cities, while Chief Miller also was on the card. Last week Herb Thompson appeared at Oshkosh and knocked out Young Heinemann in the second round. Herb had lost the first round and at the sound of the bell opening the second made one leap across the ring and with a left jab and a right cross knocked out the opponent. Sackett, who fought Zellmer, lost the decision. Horning, who also appeared on the same card, lost to Zimmerman on a foul in the fourth. Eddie swung a low punch with his right to lose the bout. Fans say he turned in one of the best exhibitions of the season. Both Sackett and Horning may be rematched with these men on the next Appleton card.

On last Friday's card at Waupaca Herb Schroeder, one of Grassie Wells' new proteges, went up against Sersch. Herb and his opponent met in the middle of the ring and started socking one another. Sersch was the first to go under when Schroeder hung a knockout sign on him toward the last of the first round. Paul Lownick of the local stable went up against Robinson and lost the decision after traveling three rounds. This was Lownick's first start under Wells.

The barley stood thick on the ground and was completely headed out long before mowing operations were started. On inspecting the crop many farmers thought it would ripen and could be harvested for grain. Others declared that fall weather is not suitable for the ripening of barley and advised that the crop be cut for hay or silage.

OILS, COPPERS HELP SECURITY MARKETS RALLY

Stocks Display Persistent Inclination Toward Higher Levels

BULLETIN
New York —(P)—The stock market bulged up to more than 3 points in an outburst of buying in the last half hour today, after oscillating uncertainly during most of the session. The turnover approximated 1,500,000 shares. The closing tone was strong.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York —(P)—The securities markets displayed a persistent inclination toward higher levels today, despite a morning setback in shares.

Oils and coppers pulled the stock market out of a mild slump after midday, and bonds worked almost steadily higher. The Argentine issues recording the best levels in weeks, presumably as a result of the improvement in wheat.

In shares, rails and few miscellaneous industrials weakened after a higher opening. Rails remained rather sluggish, but morning losses of a point or two in such industrials as American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical and John Manville were soon recovered. U. S. Steel held fairly steady. In the afternoon, gains of 1 to 2 points appeared in such coppers as Kennecott, American Smelting and Cerro de Pasco, and oils were generally up fractionally, Phillips rising a full point. Trading was in light volume. Ward Baking Preferred jumped 9 points.

Speculative quarters showed some disappointment over the news that the union members of Canadian mill ways had declined to acquiesce in a proposed voluntary wage reduction of 10 per cent. But the decision of the heads of the American Railway brotherhoods to invite railway executives to a conference to discuss wages on connection with unemployment was regarded as encouraging evidence of a conciliatory attitude.

Oils Show Strength
The manner in which the wheat market had managed to absorb extensive profit taking was regarded in Wall Street as decidedly cheering. Strength of the oils was a further reflection of the firming of crude prices in the mid-continent fields. Buying of the coppers led to unfounded rumors of progress in the world producers now in New York to discuss measures of stabilizing the industry. The conversations, however, have been in small groups, and have been closely guarded.

The midweek market statistics were moderately encouraging. "Iron Age" reported that steel ingot output had crept up to 50 per cent of capacity from 29. This is the first time in several years that the steel industry has failed to slow up as it entered November, and despite the smallness of the gain, it was cheering to those who have been predicting a belated seasonal pickup for the steel major industry. The weekly report of freight car loadings showed a somewhat larger than seasonal gain, and the report of electric power consumption was a little more favorable than last week's.

PRICES STEADY ON N. Y. CURB MARKET
Scattered Selling Fails to Make Impression—Trading Quiet

New York —(P)—Scattered selling in the early dealings failed to make much impression on the Curb market today. Prices of stocks and offerings had been absorbed and the list fluctuated in a narrow groove, with trading exceedingly quiet. Brokerage houses felt the election result was not a market influence.

Oils, which had a good run-up late last week and early this, tapered into dullness, with prices steady to firm on such transactions as appeared. Standard of Indiana improved to about the best level of the discount but was inactive. Humble met profit-taking.

Utilities moved in a range that was mostly fractional. Electric Bond and Share hanging close to Monday's final quotations. Niagara Hudson received some attention as a result of reports that activities were to be resumed toward bringing upstate power into New York City. Tampa Electric firmed slightly, but United Light "A" and American Superpower.

PRODUCERS QUELL MARKET RECOVERY

Swine in Chicago Stockyards

Chicago —(P)—Marketing a fully normal-sized run of swine in the local yards, producers did not give the trade much chance to recover from its recent sharp setback. However, the principal river market reported much lighter supplies than a week ago and a year ago and eastern orders accumulated here. This developed a brisk trade at the opening, resulting in steady to 10c higher prices. Most trading early ranged from $4.70-4.80, while $4.90 was quoted for choice straightweight butchers. Packers received 4,000 hogs on direct billing.

Swamping the trade with a mediocre grade of hogs, country shippers, mostly from nearby points, gave buyers the leverage needed to force further price recessions. State and foreign previous seasons, complicated the troubles of state salesmen. Most of the 1,000 western cattle offered were yarded in feeder divisions. Limited supplies of choice hogs brought eastern buyers into the market with fully steady bids.

Two of the major packers received 2,100 lambs direct and others were expected. The supply of 30,000 yarded here, made up more than half of the total reported in twelve principal markets and afforded an ample supply for all trade needs. The trend was towards lower prices.

STATUTES DECREE BOND ISSUE MUST BE OVER MILLION

in Order That Marketability Is Assured

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)
New York — Two points remain to be considered in our study of the requirements laid down in the New York State law to qualify public utility bonds for savings bank investments. These relate to the size of the issue and to the ratio between the value of the property and the total mortgage indebtedness on that property.

The former provision is that the bonds must be outstanding in amount not less than $1,000,000. The reason for this is that with a smaller amount there would be a poor market for the securities. The individual investor may often profitably take a bond the obligation of a small local corporation but he must understand he is securing marketability in so doing. To make any stock or bond easily salable it must have reasonably wide distribution and that is impossible if there is only a nominal amount outstanding.

It is not so easy to make out a case for the other set down in the law. It is not that the percentage fixed is an unreasonable ratio, but that it is so difficult to ascertain the basis on which the property is valued. The law says that the bonds shall not exceed 60 per cent of the value of the "physical property owned as shown by the books of the corporation."

This brings up the whole question of valuation as the term is employed by the public utility commissions in rate hearings and the question of the importance to be attached to the matter of book value in the case of a stock. A little reflection will show that everything depends on the conservatism or lack of it used in the book-keeping of the company in question. Some corporations are known to under-estimate the value of their fixed assets and others are suspected of over-estimating.

The theory of the law is that some rule must be laid down and the 60 per cent clause is perhaps as good as any but the individual investor may reasonably allow himself more latitude than the law gives to institutions.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 5th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 9:15 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

The planetary aspects of November 5th denote travel, success in business transactions as well as inspiration for those interested in literary or advertising work. Middle-aged or elderly women will find their finances benefit through others. Young women will have their share of excitement and romance. Men will be rather unfortunate in affairs of the heart.

A child born on this November 5th will be a great reader, and have an assimilative memory. It will be a serious thinker and thoroughly genuine and loyal. It is destined to have a successful career, but not a spectacular one. Its nature will demand and its happiness will depend upon love and affection.

You, if born on November 5th, have many valuable qualifications, and versatility is the principal one. You are never at a loss and can change from one occupation to another, from one recreation to another, without difficulty or loss of interest. Without specializing in any field of sport, you are a "dab" at most outdoor recreations. You run, excel in indoor pastimes and are a good host or hostess as well as a desirable guest.

One of your weaknesses and one that you should cut out, is a love of gossip; you delight to sit and hear the latest news about those whom you know or would like to know. There are some anxious to court your favor, who a lot of the obsession and play up to it. You should eliminate any such alleged friend for "you can set it down in your notebook, you'll always find it true; if he talks to you about others, he will talk to others of you."

You are extremely optimistic — too much so for your own good, as your judgment is always colored by vain imaginings and delusive hopes. You are a spasmodic worker, and can only do anything worth while when just in the right mood, and surrounded by propitious conditions. Your nature is affectionate, but your attachments are more diversified than centralized.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes still further — it eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness.

A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and cures like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back. 25c, 50c, and $1.00 bottles. Two Outagamie county farm youths, Allen Turritt of Shiocton, and Harvey A. Maass of Seymour, were among 20 youths of the state to be awarded short course scholarships of $75 each in the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. The scholarships were awarded by the regents of the University of Wisconsin in a contest in which contestants submitted essays. The contestants past record on agriculture and education also served as a basis in the awarding. There were 37 contestants representing 14 counties in the contest. In addition to the 20 winners the regents named six alternates, who will be given scholarships in case any of the regular winners cannot attend the school. The scholarships are to be received by Gus Sell, county agent in the 1931-32 school year. Word of the Outagamie winners was

Says Drinking Is Good If It Makes For Brotherhood

Madison — P — If a drinking bout is conducive to good fellowship, drinking is desirable in the opinion of the Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor of the First Congregational church here.

But if it isn't drinking should go, the pastor added.

"The question, to drink or not to drink must finally be settled on the basis of whether it increases brotherhood," the pastor declared. "If drinking will make for brotherhood I want a drink."

"If drinking makes for brotherhood, it is a good thing," he said. "I have seen many a man who has been a member of a church for years and who has never been able to get along with his neighbors and family members, more because of his drinking than because of his lack of brotherhood."

But if not, let's drink. The King received by Gus Sell, county agent in the 1931-32 school year. Word of the Outagamie winners was den of God conspires, against all, in further drinking and abstaining, but in which of these continues to brotherly love. I am persuaded that the highest social consideration is to state the value of total abstinence."

RARE WASHINGTON PORTRAITS WILL BE PUT ON STAMPS

Twelve Unusual Pictures Will Be Used in Connection With Anniversary

Washington—Portraits of George Washington that are so rare as to be almost unknown to most Americans are being taken down from museum alcoves and private collections, dusted off, and prepared for introduction to the public.

Twelve distinctly different likenesses of Washington are to appear on a series of new postage stamps to be issued in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of his birth.

The new stamps will be issued as a feature of the Washington Bicentennial Celebration in 1932. The celebration will run from Feb. 22 to Nov. 24, but the stamps will be placed on sale Jan. 2 and will be available throughout the year.

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and members of the bicentennial commission selected the portraits for the new stamps. Some of the portraits have hung many years in secluded privacy. Others have been seen in galleries by countless thousands.

But, with the exception of one or two none of the 12 portraits is familiar to the average citizen. Some of them have been so seldom reproduced that few people know they exist.

The 12 new stamps will range from one-half cent to 10 cents. In addition to these, a special series of bicentennial stamped envelopes will be issued. These will be issued in three standard sizes and will be stamped in various denominations.

Gilbert Stuart's famous portrait, painted in 1796 at Germantown, Pa., is to be reproduced on the bicentennial two-cent stamp. This is perhaps the best known portrait of Washington, and is known as the "Athenian" portrait. The original now hangs in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

A miniature by Charles Wilson Peale, painted when Washington was 25—is to be used for the bicentennial one-half-cent stamp. The original now hangs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The one-cent stamp will be graced by a likeness of the profile bust made by Jean Antoine Houdon in 1785.

Four widely known portraits by Charles Wilson Peale have been selected for one and one-half, three, four and five-cent stamps. The portrait known as the "Virginia Colonel," made at Mount Vernon in 1772, will be reproduced on the 15-cent stamp.

The one made in 1777 at Valley Forge with Washington in the uniform of a general wearing a cocked hat, will be the subject for the three-cent stamp.

Another portrait made by Peale in 1777 will be used for the four-cent stamp, and his last portrait of Washington, made in 1795, will be used on the five-cent stamp.

Washington in the uniform of a general, subject of a painting made in 1782 by John Trumbull, is to appear on the seven-cent stamp.

John Trumbull's painting of Washington, made in 1780, in a colonial uniform, is to be used as a subject on the seven-cent stamp.

A reproduction of a striking profile crayon drawing by Charles B. J. F. Saint Meurin, made at Philadelphia in 1793, is to be used on the eight-cent stamp.

An unusual likeness of Washington, the reproduction of a pastel portrait done in 1794, is to be used on the nine-cent stamp, and the "Vaughn" portrait, done by Gilbert Stuart in 1795, is to be the subject of the 10-cent stamp.

ADDITIONAL $250,000 TAX AGAINST ESTATE

Milwaukee — (P)—Milwaukee and the state of Wisconsin will be richer by about $250,000 as the result of a ruling Monday by County Judge Michael S. Sheridan ordering the payment of additional inheritance taxes on the estate of Henry Harnischfeger late Milwaukee manufacturer.

The payment must be made, the judge ruled, on gifts of $1,934,505 in stocks and cash. The gifts, the court held, were made in anticipation of death. The attorney for the estate said the decision would be appealed.

LINDY'S BIRTHPLACE FREE LODGING HOUSE

Detroit — (P)—Col. Carl A. Lindbergh's birthplace, a house at 1120 First-ave West, Tuesday became a free lodging house operated by the Detroit Gospel for needy persons.

The home is being maintained by contributions from the congregation of the Rev. Walter D. M. The Rev. Fred E. and his wife, Anna, operated the house for a similar purpose during a past year.

Mothers... Watch Children's COLDS

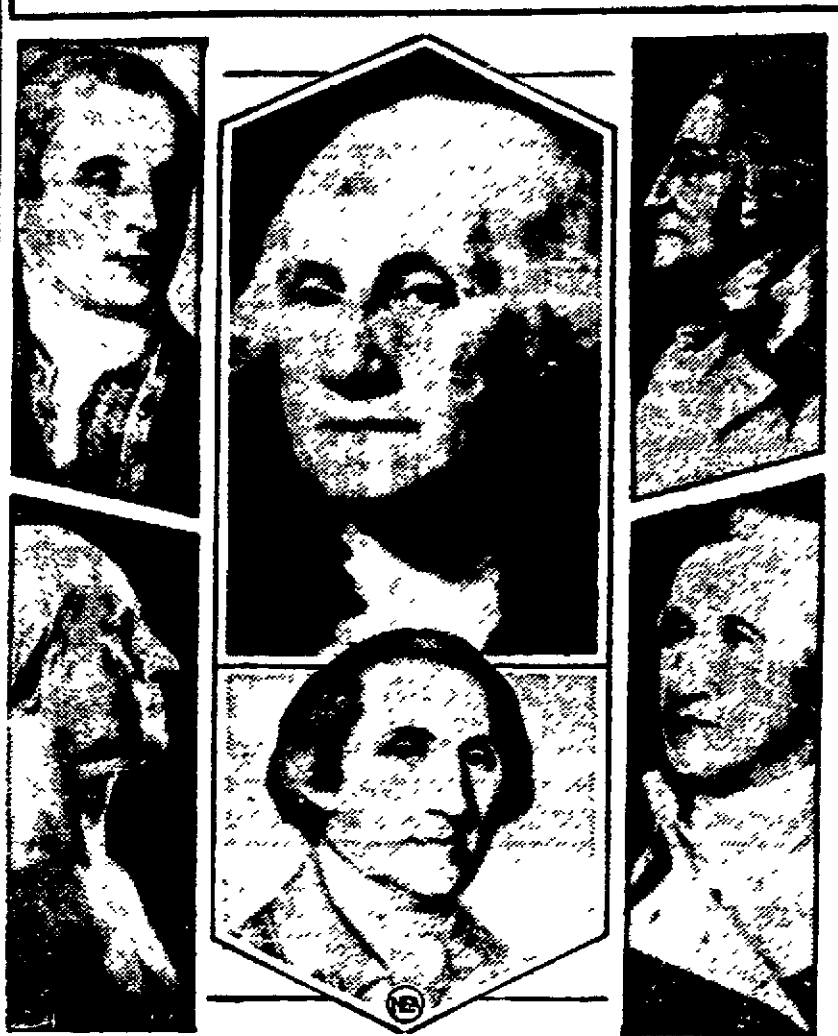

COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance—at the first sniffle rub on Children's MISTEROLE once every hour for five hours.

Children's MISTEROLE is just good old MISTEROLE, you have known so long, in milder form.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. MISTEROLE gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Keep full strength MISTEROLE on hand, for adults and the milder Children's MISTEROLE for little tots. All druggists.

These Pictures Go on Stamps

Here are reproductions of portraits of George Washington to be used in the new series of stamps to be issued in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial celebration next year. In the upper center is the best known portrait of Washington. It was painted by Gilbert Stuart and will appear on the two-cent stamp. The reproduction upper left will be used on the new one-half-cent stamp; lower left, will be used on the one-cent stamp; lower center, on the four-cent stamp; upper right, on the eight-cent stamp, and lower right, on the six-cent stamp.

CHINA ASKED TO RESCUE AMERICAN MISSIONARY

Washington — (P)—The American government has called upon Chinese authorities to rescue J. W. Vinson, an American missionary, from Chinese bandits and to punish his captors.

Willis R. Peck, the American consul general at Nanking, has made the request of Chinese authorities, he informed the state department.

Peck acted after receiving a telegram from Hanchow which said: "J. W. Vinson taken by bandits Sunday 30 miles southeast of Hanchow."

Warn Against Starting Day Without Breakfast

Madison — "Poor health lurks around the corner for the person who habitually goes without breakfast."

This is the warning issued by the Educational Committee of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin which finds that many girls go without the morning meal in order to keep slender. Practically every city has hundreds of these "underfed" who are starving for thinness.

"The question as to what constitutes a good breakfast should be determined somewhat by the activity of the individual and the time at which he is to have his next heavy meal. Those who have ample noon meals and are sedentary workers may have very light breakfasts, such as fruit, some kind of bread stuff (toast, rolls or muffins) and a beverage, coffee, cocoa or milk. If the worker takes little food at noon day, breakfast should include fruit, cereal, bread stuff and a beverage at least.

"If one has an active occupation, eggs or occasionally meat, and one other hot dish such as potatoes may be added to the fruit, cereal, bread and beverage menu.

"For the usual mixed family group, where the adults are not very active muscularly, the fruit, cereal, bread and beverage (excluding coffee for children) type of breakfast is most convenient as it provides what the children need as well as what is best for grownups. For one who wishes occasional variety an egg or a serving of bacon may be added without much trouble. As a rule digestion is better when there is one hot dish served at each meal. Sometimes the beverage provides for this.

"To those who are afraid of excess baggage in the form of overweight, we should suggest that the light breakfasts we have outlined are quite necessary. It is more likely that an excess of sugars and starches is the chief cause of the tendency to store fat or that the amount eaten makes a difference. Certain it is that the slenderized figure so much in vogue today does not have the unqualified approval of medical authorities. Marked underweight or overweight are equally foolish and dangerous. One industrial staff physician says that 'the going-without breakfast habit is a pernicious one and is apt to lead to very poor health.'

DOLE - FED FEEL POVERTY PINCH; SLICE BUDGETS

London's East End People Learning to Pinch Pennies Tighter

BY EDWARD STANLEY
London.—(AP)—Mean streets lace one another where Mrs. Emily Purton lives.

Mist spreads grime underfoot. Wisps of yellow smoke scribble poverty from the chimney pots of unending ranks of two-story brick cottages in London's east end.

Nine years ago her husband was 36, a brawny boiler-maker working every day. His plant closed. Ever since his work has been in dribbles—two weeks since April.

The dole keeps Mrs. Purton, her husband, four of their children and puts a roof over the fifth.

Before the dole was cut, and before England went off the gold standard, it came to 34 shillings, a little less than $8.50 a week.

Food Prices To Rise
The new budget will slice off four shillings. Food prices will rise to meet the new exchange.

Mrs. Purton must make the ends meet, somehow.

"I don't see any way we can cut down except food."

They live in three rooms—two bedrooms and a living room, dining room and kitchen combined into one. There isn't any bath. Public baths cost four cents.

Their rent is 10 shillings 2 pence a week, about $2.50 at the old exchange.

Only one room has heat, a fireplace. This costs about 60 cents a week.

"You have to have a bit of fire, with the children," she explains, half defensively.

She cooks with gas and their lights are gas, too. They turn them off every night at 9 o'clock. "We can't afford more than that," she says. The gas cost about 35 cents a week.

They don't buy any clothes. From her husband's two week's work she saved 15 shillings, bought shoes for two children.

All the rest of their money goes for food.

First there is a pint of milk for four of the children, all boys, 4, 6, 8 and 13.

Six cents this costs and it is the last thing she will give up, Mrs. Purton says. She and her husband use cheaper, condensed milk.

She buys 28 pounds of bread a week for three shillings and six pence.

For breakfast they have toast and oleomargarine and tea or coffee. The youngsters get cocoa.

"We're in a white. I can buy some cracked eggs. They're very dear. We don't have eggs for breakfast."

Stew Is Standby
If there is money enough they have a meat stew for dinner. Or maybe hamburger steak.

"I buy a half-pound of minced meat for fourpence (eight cents) and a half-penny worth of onion and mix them up and make little patties."

"And for supper?"

Mrs. Purton laughed. "Oh, we couldn't afford supper."

They have afternoon tea, with bread and jam.

Somewhere she has kept some cheerfulness.

"It's not my making and it can't always be like this."

Her one excitement is the social settlement. She saw one movie last year, on a week away from London provided through the settlement.

Her oldest boy, Jimmy, is the lucky one. Sickly, he didn't grow much. Now he has a job as a page boy in a west-end hotel, cuts in his part uniform. His pay, five shillings a week, just covers his subway fare and a pint of milk a day.

Burke's Dialogue Fails In Locked Up Bathroom

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright, 1931, by Cona Press)
Hollywood — (CFA) — Edwin Burke is mighty good at dialogue, as witness what he wrote for "Bad Girl," but his dialogue ability doesn't aid him much when he gets locked in the bathroom. He found after his bath the other morning that the inside knob had dropped off the bathroom door and he used his best dialogue in vain.

The doorknob incident was just a bad break. But Burke's inability to obtain release from the bathroom was due to the carefree spirit of Hollywood and Hollywood's obstinacy in taking things for granted.

Burke, a bachelor and a very modest, retiring man, was not dressed for the street. It wouldn't really have solved the situation if he had been dressed for the street because his apartment is four floors up. Still, he didn't like to attract attention to his plight and his attire so for some time he manipulated the disorganized doorknob and succeeded merely in disorganizing it more.

He was due at the studio in 25 minutes, so he finally decided to call for help.

Howling for help from a bathroom window is by no means the sort of thing Burke would care to do if he had his choice. But if he was reluctant to hail the passerby, the reluctance of the passerby to take his hail seriously was a positive revelation of the gay heart which beats beneath Hollywood's homespun vest and possibly of its gay family life as well.

"Hey!" Burke cried diffidently when the passerby had dwindled down to one. No need to collect a crowd.

"Hey, hey!" the pedestrian answered with cheery promptitude and passed on.

"Hi!" Burke accosted the next stranger.

The stranger glanced up at the disheveled figure half over the windowsill. The stranger grinned at the flushed and earnest face. "I'll say you are," he observed, going his way. "It's 8:45 the next morning, pal. Some party?"

"Listen!" Burke tried in a confidential tone as the next potential Samaritan approached. "I'm locked in the bathroom. Get some help, will you?"

"Who, me?" the Samaritan retorted, hastening his steps. "Say, I butted in on a family row once."

Burke abandoned dialogue for action. He waved vigorously from the window. Several motorists waved back.

At 8:10, an hour almost to the minute from the time the doorknob had dropped off, the apartment house janitor appeared on the sidewalk.

The prisoner unlocked door so effectively that the janitor ran up three flights of stairs without waiting to call the elevator.

Burke who said recently that he thought Hollywood was a town of magnificent accidents, is now dead sure of it.

DEFICIT OF 661 MILLION REPORTED FOR 4 MONTHS

Washington.—(AP)—The government completed the first four months of the current fiscal year with a deficit of $661,120,850. From July 1 to Oct. 31 the government income from all sources amounted to $703,629,673. Expenditures were $1,364,750,523. A year ago the government piled up a deficit of $171,514,523 in the first four months and finished the fiscal year with a deficit of $904,000.

The chief cause of the decrease in income this year was the drop of $243,000,000 in income tax collections.

COMMITTEES TO CONDUCT DRIVE ARE APPOINTED

Plans for Relief Work in City Also Discussed by Executive Group

Kaukauna—At a meeting of the executive committee, appointed by Mayor E. W. Fargo to act on an organized plan of relief for unemployed in the city during the winter, sub-committees to conduct the drive were selected. In naming the sub-committees, the group also decided on a plan of soliciting. The groups will call on salaried employees of business and industrial concerns to donate 2 per cent of their monthly earnings to the fund for the next five months. This money would create a fund of about $10,000 to be used in the work.

The sub-committees will meet Monday evening in the council chambers in the municipal building to discuss drive plans and to hear an outline of the plan for expending the fund. Chairman Arthur M. Schmalz of the executive committee will outline the work of soliciting. Expending the money will also be explained.

The first committee is industrial concerns and consists of Louis Nelson, Joseph Jansen, and W. F. Ashe. These men will call on heads of industrial concerns and ask each of the employers to conduct the drive in their own plants. The drive will be completed by Thanksgiving.

Other committees are grocery and department stores; William Haas, N. H. Hays, and William Breier; clothing, hardware, and plumbing; John Ditter, Ves Berens, and John Nielsen; banks, Henry Olm, Gordon Mulholland, and George Dogot; telephone company, Frank Guert; city employees, Mayor E. W. Fargo and Herbert Weckwerth; schools, James Cavanagh, William T. Sullivan, and John G. Dryer; butchers and bakers, Ed A. Kalupa, Jacob Weyenberg, and Aloys Hoffensperger; restaurants, drug stores, and hotels, Julius Martens, Art Look, and H. G. Brauer; soft drink parlors, R. H. McCarty and James McFadden.

Garages and filling stations will be solicited by W. F. Ashe, leader. Other members of the group are: Gordon V. Lieshout, and Dale Anderson, professional group by Joseph Lefevre, Drs. E. J. Bollinske and Albert Leigh, and Rev. Joseph Schaefer; government employees, Adolph Mill, Ben Prugh, and James Bamberg; retired and pensioned men, Joan Mitchell, Ben Bell, and Fred Wiggers; fuel dealers, Peter Renn, Walter Lucht, and N. H. Lummert; shoe stores, Matt Verfurth and Joe Krahn; barber shops, George Egan, Leo Schlezowski, and Jule Mertens; and merchants of business concerns not mentioned, Ed Haas, William Carnot, Eshan Brewster, and Lester J. Brenzel.

A publicity committee also was appointed with W. F. Ashe as leader. Carl Hansen and Mark Griffith are the other members of the group. W. P. Hagman was named secretary of the executive committee. According to plans, actual solicitations will begin next Tuesday.

AID PROMISED IN BRIDGE APPROACH

State Will Help City Finance Project, Alderman Reports

Kaukauna—This city will receive aid from the state in financing improvement of the approach to the new Lawrence bridge, Alderman G. L. Smith reported at the meeting of the common council last night.

A promise to this effect was received recently by a special committee which went to Madison to present its request for aid to the state highway commission. The state commission is supervising the improvement of the intersection of Main and Oak streets, which forms the approach to the bridge.

Alderman Smith also told of a state plan to pay interest on aid loans for projects, such as construction of the gymnasium and auditorium on the high school here. He explained that if the state confirmed the report it would pay interest on such loans, completion of the high school projects should be done.

"I believe we can save 25 per cent in building the high school addition if the report is confirmed," Alderman Smith said.

Discuss City Dump
Location of a new city dump again was discussed, but no definite arrangement was made. One site of three acres on the south side of the city, which would furnish a dumping spot for about 50 years was offered to the council for $500. A lease on the same property for 20 years at $15 a month also was offered. Another site, good for about 10 years, was offered for the filling.

Finally the aldermen decided to view the two spots and deferred the question to the next meeting on Oct. 17. North and south road district committees are investigating the sites.

Two applications for Class A permits to operate soft drink parlors were granted to Carl Truett to operate on Lawrence, and to Edward Powers to operate on Crooks-ave. A third application was referred to the next meeting of the council; when council members disagreed on granting the license.

A move also was made to have the city clerk and attorney use legal action to collect a number of delinquent tax assessments. Monthly bills were allowed.

This bull calf was sold by the reformatory to L. Christer Christensen, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

LEADING POWER PUTS LAWYER ON U. S. FARM BOARD

Frank Evans Has Experience Along Lines of Cooperative Movement

BY FRANK L. WELLES

Washington—(P)—Frank Evans, selected by President Hoover to fill the farm board vacancy created by the retirement of C. C. Teague, is one of the world's efficient workers.

A lawyer by profession, he has worked effectively, but in the background, for numerous legal attainments for agriculture—from the promotion of cooperative farm marketing in his native Utah to officiating as marketing counsel and executive secretary of the American farm bureau federation.

He resigned as secretary of the federation in 1927 and last year relinquished his position as general marketing counsel to practice law in Salt Lake City, but his name and his work are familiar wherever agriculture has fought its battles.

It is said of the American farmer that no class of men on earth is so hard to bring together, even in their own interest. Yet that is the thing at which Evans has made his most notable success.

Farmers like this sincerely religious, almost shy westerner who has spent 25 of his 53 years guiding their efforts for economic advancement.

In late years few farm conventions have taken action on a difficult problem without some leader rising to ask, "What does Frank Evans think about this?"

Evans is best known for his insight into the nature of men when they wrangle over ways and means.

His ability as a peacemaker had early foundation. His first community service was to keep the minutes of rural meetings at his father's home, a typical pioneer cabin which had been made over as a two-room brick house with a frame kitchen.

From this modest environment in Coalville, Utah, Evans went toward manhood successively as a ranch hand, a miner, village grocery proprietor, laborer in Utah beet fields, school teacher and lawyer.

He has served as county attorney, city attorney and state senator.

During the war he was with the Red Cross overseas, and his wife also an attorney, was with him as a Red Cross nurse.

It was after the war that he became identified with the farming interests of Utah and the nation.

He stands in the forefront of his specialty—cooperative marketing law. His brochure on "The Trend of Judicial Decision in Cooperative Marketing" is cited as authority in legal circles.

COMBINING THE TWO HANDS

When West picked up the hand pictured below and scanned the four solid tricks in the diamond suit, he breathed a sigh of relief that South had passed and hoped that North, his other opponent, would not find enough honor-tricks in his hand to make a Third Hand bid.

His hopes were realized. North also passed, but East, his partner, now disturbed the peace and quiet by making an Opening bid and that not a Forcing bid, which might have given value to West's near-bust holding, but a bid of the next to lowest ranking suit in the deck—South—Dealer.

East-West vulnerable.

♠ 7	♥ K 9 2	♦ 10 8 3	♣ A 10 9 8 6 3
♠ Q 8 5 2	♥ N	♦ J 10 5	♣ J 10 5
♠ J 8 6	♥ W	♦ A Q 7	♣ A K 9 5 2
♠ 7 6 4	♥ S	♦ K 2	♣ K 2
♠ Q J 7	♥ A K 6 4 3	♦ 10 5 4 3	♣ Q J
	♥ 5 4

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1♣ (1)
1♠ (2)	Pass (3)	2♠ (4)	DBL (5)
Pass	2NT (6)	Pass	DBL
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—East holds 4 honor-tricks plus the value of J 10 in the spade suit. To pass such a hand in any position could be dictated only by extreme timidity.

2—South had very close to an Opening bid and his Overcall of his vulnerable opponent is fully justified.

3—West can count a bare 1-1 tricks in support of diamonds. It is true he holds at least one stopper in the suit adversely bid but his holding does not justify any other course than a pass.

4—North also has a sound Overcall—a six-card bidable suit and a total of 1-1 honor-tricks.

5—East's Double is for a Takeout. It is a Double of not more than two in a suit and his partner has not bid.

6—A fine bid, although forced. There is a certain stopper in the club suit and a probable stopper in spades. To weakly bid two diamonds and "pass the buck" back to partner would be a failure of West to live up to the requirements of the partnership.

In the play it is, of course, evident that East and West must make a game at notrump and that a game at any other declaration is impossible. East's holding in the spade suit supplements West's weak hand so that two stoppers are sure in that suit. The club King combined with West's Q J 7 are enough to stop the club suit twice and there are

High School Gridders Invade Marinette For Last Valley Game

Mortell Expected to Start at Fullback; Peotter a Question

APPLETON high school football team will leave tomorrow morning where the Orange will clash with Marinette high school gridders in the last Valley conference game for both schools this season.

The game is being played tomorrow because both teams are scheduled to play Nov. 11, and the Thursday date gives them almost an even break in rest periods. Marinette will play Menominee high school on Appleton day and Appleton will play with Kaukauna at George A. White.

Keyed up as result of their victory Saturday over Oshkosh, and with the knowledge Emmett Mortell again will be ready for duty, the Orange eleven hopes to finish the valley schedule with a victory. Then too, there is a certain basketball game at Marinette last spring that the Orange would like to avenge.

Neither team has a chance at the Valley pennant any more but the high school has a good chance of ending in a tie for second place or retaining its third place spot. Just how the club finishes depends on the East-West game at Green Bay Armistice day.

Only one member of the Orange eleven will be ailing when the team takes the field Thursday, Bill Peotter, end. He remained out of Sunday's game because of his injured knee and if it doesn't feel right probably will stay out of the Marinette battle to be ready for the season's finale Armistice day. Peotter also is a cager and is looking forward to a good season on the court and he doesn't care to jeopardize it with an ailing knee.

Mortell who also injured his knee probably will start Thursday's game. That being the case, the backfield will be composed of Mortell, full, Krohn and Dietrich halves and Joe Verrier at quarter.

Neller, Beck Ends
Jim Neller and Beck will draw the end assignments again and if their work last week is any indication the Orange should be well taken care of at the wing posts. Kreick and Weber get the nod for tackles and Klein and Hiltman, guards with Bowers and Dean center.

Marinette has been playing a lot of in and out football this season, looking fairly good in some games and far from good in others. The team has dropped four contests but has capped two, at least one of which was an upset.

BONE CRUSHERS CLAIM CITY FOOTBALL TITLE

The Fourth Ward Bone Crushers, an independent amateur football team here, won an impressive victory recently by beating the strong Kaukauna Maroons, 19 to 0. The game was the sixth win for the Bone Crushers this fall and gives the team claim to the valley title. The club has beaten teams from Kimberly, Darby, Kaukauna, Menasha, and Appleton.

HIGH SCHOOL FISH TO SHOW AT KENOSHA

Kenosha—(AP)—The eighth annual state high school swimming meet will be held at the pool of the Kenosha high school, the board of control of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association, has announced. The dates proposed are April 15 or 23. Kenosha high school won the 1931 meet and is third successive state championship.

TICKET SALE SMALL; BOXER WON'T SHOW

Wausau—(AP)—When the advance ticket sale indicated its percentage might be small, Doc Holly, St. Paul boxer, refused to appear on the program of the Rockefield Athletic club here last night. Holly was to meet Young Shaw of Oshkosh in the 10 round wind-up. The show was postponed.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—JIM THORPE may be the greatest football player the world ever saw, but you never could tell his old coach that... his old coach is Pop Warner, who now is at Stanford. Pop insists that Ernie Nevers of Stanford was the greatest player he ever coached. Albrook and Schacht have been getting a big hand in Los Angeles where major league all-stars have been putting on a post-season show. Schenck, Holbrook, and Spillner won 16 straight during the Pacific Coast League season, beat Babe Ruth's all-stars without much trouble. Scout Bill Essick believes Lefty Gomez will replace Grover eventually as the greatest pitcher in the majors. Essick is the scout who discovered Gomez.

Dollar Cleaners (3)	754	710	822-2346

The R. & S. Shoe team of the City league walloped the maples for a flock of 200 scores last night on Arcade alleys and topped three straight games from the Dollar Cleaners. Stieners' 200 gave the team an 823 to 754 win in the first game, Stillman hit 200, Stener 200, Lesselyong 210 and C. Tornow 203 in the second game and the team topped 951 to 770. In the third contest a 209 by Stillman set the pace for an 874 to 822 victory. Stillman had a 580 series, Steiner 553.

Gould rolled a big series of 600 which featured a 203 and 227 to give Three a two and one win over One. The winners dropped the first game by a single pin and then stopped.

17,000 EXPECTED TO SEE BATTALINO, MASTRO TONIGHT

Sammy Mandell Returns to Chicago Stadium in Preliminary

CHICAGO—(AP)—Bar Battalino, the busy boy from Hartford, Conn., risks his prized world's featherweight crown against the rising fists of the dangerous Earl Mastro in the punch bowl of the Chicago Stadium tonight.

As the hour approached for their 10 round battle, which promised to be a stirring struggle between force and science, the waiting pendulum swung so furiously that it was impossible to distinguish the favorite. Backed by his Chicago friends, who have watched his rise to power in the featherweight world, Mastro held the champion at least even in the heavy waging.

Expect 17,000
The battle stretched the imaginations of Chicago's fight rallo and close to 17,000 were expected to watch the first Chicago fight in 37 years take a shot at the crown. Battalino has successfully protected since he captured it from Andre Routis of France in 1929.

From the standpoint of sheer punching ability, the champion was given a wide edge over the challenger. But Mastro's hopes rested in his skill to outpoint Battalino, a task possible for him to do by a wide margin unless the champion is at his best. In his fight since he started out only five years ago, Mastro has more than made up for his lack of punch by a whirlwind attack gave him victory after victory on points.

Battalino, always a great champion when his title is at stake and a poor one when there is no title to risk, was confident of making Mastro look like just another challenger. He finished his workout last night and was expected to make the limit of 126 pounds without any difficulty. He outmeasured Mastro in almost every way physically although only a pound of flesh separated them on the scales.

Managers Optimistic
The managers of the rivals, as usual, were optimistic. "I am convinced that Bat is too strong for Mastro and that he'll win by a big enough margin to suit everybody that he is a real champion."

"Earl's binding offense will have Battalino on the run from the outset and he'll be too busy defending himself to do much scoring," countered Mastro's manager, Sam Plan. Speculators will witness a touch of fists from just before the championship battle, which will take place at about 9:45 central standard time, when Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., returns to the Stadium as a preliminary fighter. The last time Mandell fought in the Stadium, he was lightweight champion but tonight, in a preliminary, he meets Ralph Lenny of Union City, N. J. as a welterweight.

OLDER BOYS TO PLAN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

An Older Boys' basketball league to play games on the Y. M. C. A. court will be organized Saturday afternoon at the association, according to C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary and W. S. Ryan, physical director. The meeting will be held at 4 o'clock.

Last year an Older Boys' cage league functioned at the association with eight teams competing. The boys played a regular schedule and then a double elimination tournament, the winners meeting for the Older Boy championship. The league was composed of group and gang teams and interest was high throughout the season.

FWD GRIDDERS TO PLAY IN BENEFIT GAME NEXT SUNDAY

The Clintonville FWD Football team will close its season next Sunday, Nov. 8, in a benefit game with the Wolverines of Green Bay. The clash between these two teams on the Clintonville grid from will bring together two of the strongest amateur teams in eastern Wisconsin. The FWD's have lost but one game this season.

The entire receipts from this game will be donated to the widowed mother of Antoine Saroka, Rhinelander football player who died from injuries sustained in the Clintonville-Rhinelander game, Oct. 25. The kick-off is at 2:30 o'clock.

BADGER GRIDDERS WORKING AGAINST ILLINI FORMATIONS

Faculty Committee Approves Charity Game With Big 10 Opponent

MADISON—(AP)—More practice on tackling with a drill against Illinois plays featured the Wisconsin football team's workout at Camp Randall yesterday.

The freshmen used the Illinois plays as taught them by Guy Lowman, baseball coach and scout for the Badgers, but the yearlings found difficulty in piercing the varsity's defense. But the regulars, on the other hand, did not show a startling offense when they took their turn at carrying the ball.

Purnell "Pip" Nelson was used by Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite at quarterback again, adding weight to the belief that the stocky Madison boy will start in that position rather than "Buckets" Goldenberg who has been away from practice sessions for the past two days, ostensibly because of injuries.

Walter McGuire and Joe Linfor teamed with Nelson as halves in the backfield while John Schneller continued as fullback but either Clair Stain or Russ Rehola may take a halfback post when the Badgers lineup against the Illini Saturday.

The success the Badgers had in the last half of the Minnesota game with passes is expected to result in more use of the aerial game in the remaining encounters on the schedule. Coach Thistlethwaite gave the Badgers a new pass play this week which has thus far worked successfully in practice.

No M. U. Charity Game

MADISON—(AP)—A football game between Marquette and Wisconsin in either 1932 or 1933 loomed as a possibility today as a result of action taken by the University of Wisconsin faculty committee here.

The faculty approved a post-season charity football game between Wisconsin and the other Big Ten teams this year. If played, such a game would be set for Nov. 28.

By approving the post-season game the faculty automatically removes possibility of a Marquette-Wisconsin game this year inasmuch as Western conference rules forbid games after November.

HOLD THREE CUSHION BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

Milwaukee—(AP)—After two sessions of round robin play in the northern sectional qualifying three cushion billiard tournament being held here, Ray Palmer, Milwaukee, Jack Henley, Des Moines, Ia., and Joe Moriarty of Chicago, were tied today for the lead with 12 victories each. Palmer, the touring favorite, had a close call yesterday when he was forced to go 70 innings to defeat Carl Sederholm, Milwaukee amateur, 50 to 49.

MINNESOTA'S SHIFT PLAY TO BE OBJECT OF CLOSE SCRUTINY

Opponents Complain That Gophers Fail to Halt Full Second

BY PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—The famous Minnesota shift, 1931 model, will be under close observation Saturday when the Gophers meet Northwestern's Wildcats in their all-important big Ten football war at Dwyer Stadium.

Coaches, scouts and players from Iowa and Wisconsin have complained so loudly about the alleged failure of the Gophers to make a full second's halt after their shift that Northwestern officials have decided to do very much on the lookout Saturday.

During the Minnesota-Iowa game, it was charged by some Iowa officials, including Assistant Coach Rollie Williams, that the Gophers failed to halt much more than a split second after their shift. The same charge was heard from Wisconsin's camp after the Badgers had taken a 14 to 0 licking last week.

Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern questioned his scouts closely on the charge and will request the officials of Saturday's game to be on the lookout for such violations, which mean a loss of 15 yards. The Wildcats were penalized freely last week and Coach Hanley is now a stickler for rule enforcement as never before.

Russell Looks Good
Northwestern's hopes of stemming the big Minnesota rush bounded upward today on the shoulders of Red Russell, star Wildcat fullback. The big Wildcat line cracker, who was injured severely in the Nebraska game, returned to active practice last night and looked as good as ever and was regarded as a certain member in the backfield for Saturday's game.

With his return, Coach Hanley is expected to shift his backfield, sending Ollie Olson from fullback to halfback.

After two days of complete rest, Minnesota's varsity returned to work last night with much emphasis on defense against Northwestern passes and "Pug" Rentner's long runs. Pete Somers was unable to take his quarterback post because of a sore side so Kenny MacDonal took the job.

Old fashioned fundamentals of football received the attention of most of the other Big Ten teams as they prepared for their conference and inter-sectional struggles. Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg hauled out a bucking machine at Chicago for the first time in his coaching career as part of the drill for Arkansas' invasion. Blocking and interference were stressed at Wisconsin, Iowa, and Purdue.

The injury jinx overtook Illinois again. Herman Walser, regarded as the best quarterback in the Illini camp, injured his leg last night and may be lost for the Wisconsin battle. Indiana, too, had something to worry about with Sabik, its star passer, out.

Coach Harry Kipke, still dissatisfied with Michigan's scoring punch, doled out new plays for the Wolverines while Harry Eastman, a letterman, flashed his old time form at halfback.

Except for Lew Hinchman, a real plunger, all hands were well and ready at Ohio State for the Navy. A crowd of between 55,000 and 60,000 was expected to watch the struggle.

Minneapolis—Paul Wangley, Minneapolis, knocked out Young Firpo, Detroit (2); Wilbur Chevalier, Milwaukee, outpointed Jack Sharkey, Minneapolis (3).

Springfield, Mo.—William L. Strubling, Macon, Ga. stopped Fred Fitzsimmons, Waco, Tex., (3).

Indianapolis—Roy (Tigers) Williams, Chicago, and Willie Oster, Boston, no contest (10); Allen Mathews, St. Louis, knocked out Patsy Pollock, Chicago (4).

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Otto Atterson, Terre Haute, won on foul from Moan Baumgartner, Ft. Wayne (7).

Indianapolis—Roy (Tigers) Williams, Chicago, and Willie Oster, Boston, no contest (10); Allen Mathews, St. Louis, knocked out Patsy Pollock, Chicago (4).

Chaff 'n Chatter

The Badgers
KNOWING well that the average grid fan is wondering about the Wisconsin football team and about details of the defeat at Minnesota, we are passing on to you the comment of Henry McCormick, sports editor of the Madison State Journal, who we feel calls the situation as it is and doesn't put all the blame on the coaching staff as most writers do.

Wisconsin has now lost two games it might normally have been expected to have won and has been victorious in one that it was expected to lose; in addition, the Badgers were held to a tie by Auburn, another item for the wrong side of the ledger.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite is not going to win many games with this year's Wisconsin eleven unless he can persuade his backs to do some tackling, unless he gets some real blocking from his halfbacks and unless his ends play better football. Watched over by the Wisconsin backfield has cost six touchdowns in the last two weeks; Pennsylvania scored two touchdowns because of poor defensive play in the Wisconsin backfield and Minnesota's two touchdowns last Saturday were traceable to the same cause.

Jack Manders romped 55 yards for the first score when Wisconsin's backfield had been feinted out of position; Munn scored the second touchdown on a forward-lateral pass play that was beautifully executed. The play was executed perfectly but a Wisconsin halfback had a clear shot at Munn in the open field and made a lunging tackle that was useless.

Hard, accurate tackling by Wisconsin's backfield would have saved both Minnesota touchdowns. Wisconsin's ends played poor football in the first half but Mare, Catlin and Milt Bergal were substituted in the second half and did a surprisingly good job. However, the Badger wingmen cover punts poorly, they seem to have no football sense at playing defense against sweeps and they are probably the poorest lot of tackle blockers to ever clutter up a gridiron.

The other side of the picture is that Wisconsin's safety gets no protection on punts; the wonder is not that he fumbles occasionally but that he traps the punter as often as he does. It will ruin any safety to know that he is going to be hit as soon as he lays his hand on the punt. Wisconsin's work at spiking ends going down under punts against Minnesota was half-hearted and useless.

The makeup of the Wisconsin backfield is wrong. It may have been right at the start of the season potentially it may still be all to the good but actually it does not work out.

Wisconsin gets some blocking at line and back position and little or none at left halfback; the result is that the Badger wide-side plays are being stopped on the line of scrimmage or downed for losses; take the threat of the weakside offensive from the Warner offense and you have a minimum of deception. "Buckets" Goldenberg, cut eye and all, played a slashing game at

Q—Should a fighter miss a blow and strike with the wrist or elbow would it be called a foul?
A—According to the rules it is a foul. If the boxer struck is injured so that he can't continue the referee will call a foul.

Q—Is the distance from home plate to second base exactly the same as from first base to third base? I mean across the diamond.
A—It is.

Q—If two players get into a fight need the teams necessarily be penalized?
A—Not to any greater extent than that the players participating in the fight will probably be put out of the game.

GORILLA JONES IN WIN OVER NICHOLS AT N. B. A. TOURNEY

Semi-final Bouts Scheduled for Nov. 19; Rojas Is Beaten

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Gorilla Jones, Akron, O., Negro and Odono Piazza, Italy's middleweight champion are scheduled to appear here Nov. 19 on the double windup semi-finals card of the National Boxing Association's middleweight elimination tournament.

The Akron fighter advanced another stage in the tourney by winning the judges' decision over Georgia Nichols, the Buffalo, N. Y. southpaw, in the 10-round wind-up event of the quarter finals last night. Piazza outpointed Raul Rojas, Cuban titleholder, in the other half of the bill.

Two survivors of earlier tourney bouts, Henry Firpo, Newcastle, Pa., and Frankie O'Brien, Hartford, Conn., will match their boxing prowess against that of Jones and Piazza in the semi-finals.

The winner of the tournament will be adjudged the successor of Mickey Walker, retired world's middleweight champion. Nichols took an aggressive stand against the Negro in the opening round and continued to force the fighting for three rounds.

In the fourth round, Jones punched Nichols all over the ring. Jones continued the aggressor in the next three rounds, planting body blows with Nichols' efforts in a similar attack drawing a warning from the referee after two apparently unintentionally low blows had hit Jones.

Try for Knockout
Jones coasted in the eighth and ninth while Nichols endeavored to stage a comeback. The Buffalo fighter landed a number of solid punches. Both fighters tried hard for a knockout in the final round. Nichols seemed to have the edge in the milling, but it was not enough to overcome the lead amassed earlier by Jones. Nichols weighed 158½; Jones 154.

The Italian champion completely outlasted Rojas in their bout which was the first appearance for each in the tourney. Rojas was unable throughout the bout to connect with his long, sweeping blows. In the second round the Italian lifted Rojas from the floor with a stinging left, but the Cuban managed to hang on despite numerous rights to the chin which rocked him time and again as the bout progressed.

Piazza weighed 153½; and Rojas 153½. Marion Harmon, star tackle for Southern Methodist university, injured himself without going on the field. He twisted his shoulder pulling a jersey over his head.

BAY PACKERS CLOSE HOME GRID SEASON

Meet Stapleton Eleven on City Stadium in Last Appearance

Green Bay—Although most of the nation's football talent has been paraded across the City stadium at some time or other for the benefit of Green Bay fans and the Packers have halted the rushes of the best known players ever to appear on American gridirons, fewer backfield stars have approached the reputations of several players who will represent Stapleton here next Sunday afternoon. The contest will mark the last appearance of the champions before a home crowd, and will get under way at 2 o'clock.

The best known and perhaps most formidable of the invaders is Ken Strong, all-American fullback at New York university in 1929 and all-American professional halfback with the Stapes last season. Strong is the original triple threat artist, as he can pass with the best in the game, is adept at broken field running, excellent line smasher or end runner, and one of the longest punters in the National league. His punts are so far up in the air that Barrabee, Marshall and Cunningham, Stapleton's crack ends, are nearly always under the receiver when the boots come down. Stapleton expects that Strong's punting will play an important part in what they intend to be a victory over Green Bay.

Baker Good Blocker
No newcomer to Green Bay fan-dom is Roy (Gib) Baker, who plays half and quarter with Stapleton. Once an all-Pacific coast halfback, he has played for the New York Yankees, the Packers, and the Chicago Cardinals. Baker is a sensational blocker, and his sweeping charges have paved the way for many of Strong's advances.

Thomas (Doc) Parkinson, mentioned as all-American fullback for Pitt in 1929, is playing his first year of professional football. He is a power on both defense and offense, and has to his credit the major number of tackles chalked up by the Stape secondary.

Stuart Clancy, 195 pound back, is the same Clancy who tore up eastern gridirons as captain of the 1929 Holy Cross team. He received all-eastern attention, and played with Newark last year until a broken leg tossed him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season. His punts while not as strong as those of Good, then Stapleton has E. E. (Tiny) Feather, formerly of Kansas State, who has visited Green Bay as running mate for Benny Friedman's New York Giants. This is his fifth year in the professional circuit.

Haines May See Action
"Hinky" Haines, the coach, may see action Sunday, but Mays McLain, Portsmouth's great fullback of last season, is certain to pound the Packers line before many whistles have blown. He weighs 225 pounds and last year scored 62 points for Portsmouth to top the National league column. The backfield list is completed by Irving (Murphy) Considine, Syracuse back who is playing his first year of professional football, and "Indian" Yabok, who started the season with Brooklyn.

At ends the Stapes have "Cookie" Cunningham, one time Ohio State star, whose six feet three inches make him one of the tallest men in the pro game. He is dead on passes. Barrabee, another N. Y. U. man, probably will be paired with Cunningham. Barrabee's press notices claim that he wears a 16 1/2 collar around what passes for a neck. Charley Marshall, one more N. Y. U. product, completes the wing roster.

In John (Bing) Miller, Al Kanya and Elwyn Comstock, the Stapes have three excellent tacklers. Miller is an N. Y. U. alum who has played for three years with Stapleton, while Kanya is a promising newcomer from Syracuse. Comstock played with West Virginia Wesleyan and Washington U. at St. Louis, and has proved a capable substitute for the other two tacklers.

Garvey Playing Guard
Three veterans and a youngster of promise hold down the guard assignments. There are Olie Saxon, another N. Y. U. man, Jim Laird, Colgate; Heck Garvey, Notre Dame; and Erik Taylor, Alabama Poly. Laird is a veteran of the championship Providence Steam Rollers of 1929, and weighs 155 pounds. Saxon and Garvey are of the same general weight and build.

At center the Stapes make use of Herb Rapp, former Xavier university captain, and Jim Fitzgerald, of Holy Cross. Both are accurate passers, hefty line charges and are apt at diagnosing plays.

FIND NEW USE FOR BABCOCK INVENTION

Madison—(AP)—The famed milk test invented by the late Stephen Babcock of the University of Wisconsin now has a new use—determining the amount of oil in pecans.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the principles of the Babcock invention are being successfully applied to tests for oil. Babcock's invention determined an easy and quick determination of the amount of butterfat in milk. Therefore the amount of oil, or fat, in nuts has been ascertained by extracting it from the meats with ether—a time consuming process which also extracts other material and sometimes causes a loss in oil. The department of agriculture said in reporting the new use of Babcock's invention.

In the new method as in the Babcock test, dense sulfuric acid is used to liberate the oil in a pure state from the nut meats. Only 30 minutes are required for the sulfuric acid method as compared with two hours for the ether extract method.

The oil contents of five varieties of pecans analyzed by the new method in the department's laboratory ranged from 14.7 to 17.5 per cent.

NO COTTON TO BE RAISED ON FARMS OWNED BY STATE

North Carolina "Live at Home" Program Jolts Depression

Raleigh, N. C. —(AP)—Whatever the south does about cotton production next year, North Carolina has plans of its own.

And that is just one of Gov. O. Max Gardner's ideas for making North Carolina's agriculturists the state's most independent class of citizens.

The "live-at-home" program, initiated in the south by Governor Gardner and inaugurated in North Carolina two years ago, has brought results that give the leaders a hopeful outlook.

"For the first time in history," Governor Gardner pointed out, "two bunches of what were raised on North Carolina soil for every man, woman and child in the state may be raised on the soil of their own state."

"North Carolina has grasped the live-at-home idea and for two years we have led the south in acreage reduction in cotton, having cut the crop 29 per cent this year."

Next year North Carolina will go forward with "renewed and redoubled efforts to reduce the acreages in cotton and tobacco and to grow all the food and feedstuffs necessary for the people of the state." If farmers follow the lead of their governor.

"Again," he said, "554,000 school children, together with the agricultural agencies of the state, its agricultural college and department, its home and county demonstration agents, the press and the pulpit will be called to take the lead."

William A. Graham, commissioner of agriculture, said the state is "steadily and surely emancipating itself from cotton bondage and turning toward production of food and feedstuffs."

He estimates that the revenue from diversified crops this year will increase the farm revenue of the state approximately $20,000,000.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the state college, pointed out that his institution has fostered a program for cotton production that has been effective in reducing acreage, without any sign-up agreement. In two years the acreage reduction has been from 1,572,000 in 1929 to 1,336,000 in 1931.

"There is still opportunity for a continued reduction in this state," Dr. Brooks declared, "and undoubtedly there will be a considerable reduction in 1932, whether or not there is any concerted action on the part of other cotton growers."

Many North Carolina farmers have readjusted their programs and some have found it financially advantageous to abandon cotton altogether.

This year has seen a marked increase in preserving farms. Pigs and chickens inhabit farms in large numbers.

The family cow is provided for, so agriculturists of the state assert. They have little fear of any farm family going hungry regardless of the price of cotton, or what the country does about it.

Clafin Predicts Change In Laws Before Next Season

BY R. A. CLAFIN

Hunters in the United States may expect some radical thing to happen before another hunting season rolls around. I have just received notice of an invitation to attend a meeting of the American Game Association which it is to be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, Dec. 1 and 2. Many of you know that last year the association reversed the methods of game bird conservation in America by promoting game as a secondary farm crop. The meeting to be held in December will tackle the waterfowl shortage as its chief problem. The conference will be composed of game officials of most of the states and Canada, leaders of sportsmen's organizations, scientific workers and nature lovers.

The American Game Policy committee, which formulated the plan adopted by the 1930 conference, will report on the progress made in waterfowl conservation under its recommendations. The new system of compensating landowners for restoring game on their land has been put in to actual use in Indiana, Wisconsin, North Carolina and Iowa. In these states laws were passed permitting landowners to sell hunting privileges of sportsmen, in one way or another.

A plan to institute a migratory waterfowl restoration program by means of a federal hunting license will also be one of the subjects scheduled for discussion at the conference. The plan was proposed at the meeting held to decide on the best means of conserving the birds of hunting and fishing as well as game, and it is expected that the plan will be adopted, discouragingly slow, but it is a step in the right direction.

It is hoped that the immediate restoration of waterfowl breeding, resting and feeding grounds, and the establishment of game law enforcement, will be the result of the conference of sportsmen, workers, the National Association of Wildlife Legislators, and the Game and Fish Commissioners, the Game and Fish Commissioners, the Elk Commission and the Outdoor Writers association.

Everybody will admit that it is high time drastic steps are taken if we hope to prevent our wild life from being annihilated. There is no question but that an acute shortage of ducks has prevailed this year. But in my mind they will come back readily enough if given a chance.

The American Game Association apparently does not favor the stopping of shooting. They should not, unless that becomes necessary to enable the wildfowl to recuperate. But, contrary to what many of the sportsmen maintain, the game laws of all kinds, if there is not sufficient water areas for wild ducks to breed on, they will die out in places where there is. Nature always maintains an even balance. But if more birds are killed than are born, the supply will steadily decline until they disappear entirely.

INVEST UNIVERSITY FUNDS IN PROPERTY

Madison—(AP)—More than $750,000 in University of Wisconsin trust funds is invested in Wisconsin farm lands and residence and business property, according to a report compiled by M. E. McCallery, secretary of the board of regents.

Total investments are $826,647.63 of which $761,647.63 is invested in Wisconsin farms and property. A total of $28,335.19 is not invested and $55,000 is invested in bonds.

The University has invested $225,322.57 in first mortgages of Wisconsin farms located in 19 counties of the state. They are Barron, Burnett, Chippewa, Crawford, Dane, Columbia, Dodge, Eau Claire, Portage and Sawyer.

A total of only $10,000 in interest on the total amount invested is in default and of this $12,126.84 is payable on farm mortgages, the report shows.

Income derived from the trust funds made $13,000 available for loan to needy students this year for this year, according to M. E. McCallery, who is in charge of the disbursement of University funds approved by the faculty committee on loans and scholarships.

Income for the year of the four-year fund was $10,000. The fund was ordered on a long-term basis of 10 years, or as an investment in a 4 per cent rate.

The fund was established in 1917 and has accumulated a balance of $10,000. The fund is used for the benefit of needy students from the state of Wisconsin and is administered by the University of Wisconsin.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

SYNOPSIS: Europe lies before Venice Muir, holding out the chance of popularity in a new environment, after years of social failure in New York. New people, who do not know her quiet, unobtrusive habits, may release Venice from the self-consciousness that ties her down. Her mother has been successful herself, and urgently wishes Venice to be attractive. Discouraged by Venice's social flatness, she proposes to try to launch her in Paris. Venice has met a man with whom she can be natural—Drake Farrelly. After waiting for him to call her, she receives a phone call from him on the night she is sailing. He insists upon coming to see her for a short time. When he arrives, Mrs. Muir makes sure of his family background. She leaves to close the bags, much to Venice's relief.

Chapter 13
CHERBOURG

"I CAN see why you crave social success. Your mother has it and has told you that you must have it too," Drake said.

"Exactly. But it is important. What else has a girl?"

"Books and theatres and real friends and a hobby or a job if she likes."

"Not in my family. Books or theatres are merely to fill in gaps between invitations. A hobby would be eccentric, a job vulgar if you didn't need the money."

"Poor Venice. Hemmed in by the viewpoint of the Victorians."

"What do you think about things? Do you like business?"

"I'm a struggling architect. That's why the firm sent me to Florida. So I could struggle with a beastly epidemic of cheap bungalows down there."

"Nice. An architect. You can imagine things and later see them in marble and steel."

"You're fifty jumps ahead of me. My imagined things are only seen in stucco or shingle."

"Why did you say I have an inferiority complex, Drake?"

"We must go, Venice. The taxi's here. I am sorry, Mr. Farrelly."

Mrs. Muir came rustling into the room.

"Good-bye, Drake," said Venice. All her awkwardness had returned. "I'll come to the boat."

"No," she shook her head. What would be the use? Her mother would be at their elbows, eagerly conversational, or anxiously worrying about this bag or that.

Drake seemed to understand. He pressed her hand and his eyes smiled in that friendly, sympathetic way he had.

"How long will you be gone?"

"Three or four months, I imagine."

That was all.

Mrs. Muir stood watching restlessly. Her nervous impatience, communicated to her, had all been lost and unsatisfactory, but underneath there was a current of potentiality, something to look forward to, something that would develop later on. Venice felt this and her eyes were bright. The visit somehow was not completely a failure.

"I'm going to be in London for a week, then on to Paris. Will you be there then?"

"Yes. The Westminster."

"Good. I'll look you up. We'll have a night at Zelli's."

"Venice, dear, please come along."

Mrs. Muir was as excited as though the tender had already left them behind. "Good-bye, Johnny," she did not stop to shake hands but quickly put on a bright, warm smile for him as she stepped on to the gangplank. His mother was a Tattler of Georgia. She glanced back to show him that her smile was cordial and friendly.

"Good-bye, Mrs. Muir. Bye, Venice. Until Paris."

"Bye, Johnny. Then remember, your new role. Yours for Zelli's," she added quickly.

In the boat train going up to Paris Venice sat next to the window. The neat green fields, specked by thatched roofs, cobble streets, Venice eagerly absorbed the flying scene. Like toy houses and grass and gardens, the trim, well tended, sunny countryside of France. She adored it. And through its neatness and tranquillity came to her that may assurance of a fresh beginning. Diffidence left behind; a Venice metamorphosed into a Lola or an Ann Durepa. Avidly her mind painted pictures. She was steeped in happiness and her face became alight, losing its customary gravity.

(Copyright, Harriet Henry)

THE FAKER!

WIFE: Arthur! Don't tell me you were contemplating suicide?

HUSBY (who has just returned from rainy vacation and has his head in gas oven): Suicide was hanging! I'm determined to return to the office with a scorched face somehow—Passing Show.
